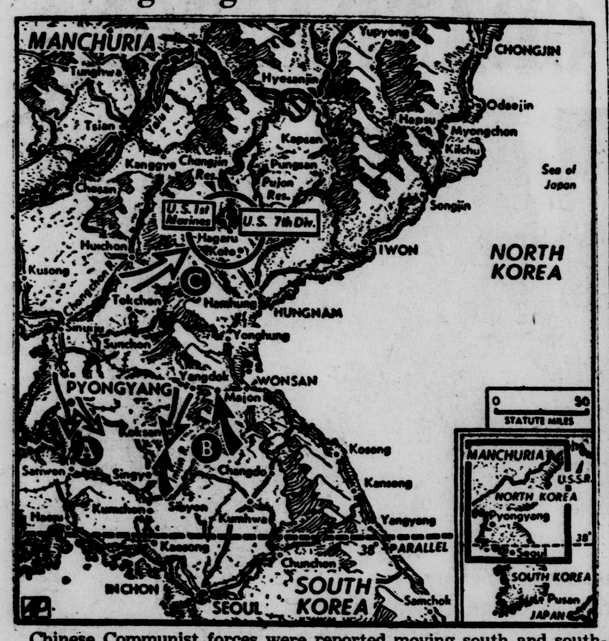
Allies Form Hill Defenses 25 Miles Out of Pyongyang; Reds Make No Peace Offer

Fighting Areas in Korea



Chinese Communist forces were reported moving south and southeast of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang (A). Allied units made contact with advancing Reds at Koksan (B) and just east of there an Allied unit attempting to move north to aid beleaguered forces in the Changjin reservoir area (C) was halted at Majon. A Red column was reported moving on trapped Allies in the reservoir area. Open arrows indicate Communist troops; solid arrows Allied moves.

U.N. Clash Is Heard Over French Bid

Russia Opposes Move to Give Red China's Intervention Top Spot in Assembly

Word Is Awaited

Rau Says He Has Not Heard From Chinese Envoy

Lake Success, Dec. 7 (AP)—France led a western power move in the United Nations today for top priority consideration of Communist China's intervention in Korea. Russia immediately opposed the move.

The clash took place in the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee. Jean Chauvel, French delegate, said Chinese participation in the Korean fighting is a grave question that affects the peace of the whole world. He said it should take precedence over all other items before the committee.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said Chauvel's demand was "most unprecedented." He argued that the committee must continue with debate on Russia's charges of American aggression against Formosa.

Reply Is Awaited

While the procedural wrangle tied up the committee, U.N. diplomats anxiously awaited word from Peiping whether the Chinese Reds are ready to accept any of the several pleas for a cease-fire. India's Sir Benegal N. Rau, one of the leaders in the peace efforts, said this morning he still has received no reply from Chinese Communist envoy Wu Hsiu-chuan.

Rau conferred privately with Wu twice last week-end and submitted to him some proposals. He also was one of the sponsors of the 13-nation appeal by Asian and Middle East countries that the Chinese forcees halt at the 38th Parallel.

France was a co-sponsor of a six-nation resolution demanding that the Peiping troops be withdrawn immediately from Korea.

Supporters foresaw quick approval of the proposal, probably by Friday afternoon, with full Assembly approval possible by the end of the week.

Frown on Proposals

But Chinese Communist representatives here have frowned on proposals that the Red armies stop at the 38th parallel. The Peiping radio has broadcast a statement their troops will roll south "to aid Korea." The effect of a U.N. withdrawal demand was doubtful.

One U. S. source, admitting he was taking the most hopeful attitude he could think of, explained his optimism this way:

"If this resolution is adopted by the U.N., it will be the first time that the full membership of the U.N. will have asked the Chinese Communists to do anything. Maybe the Chinese Communists are waiting for such a request from the whole U.N. If that is so, this will give them the excuse to quit Korea.

"If not, then the will of the rest of the nations of the world will be on record and they can act on their decision."

Won't Recognize Decision

More realistic observers pointed out that Wu Hsiu-chuan, leader of the Chinese Communist delegation here, told the Security Council last week that his govvernment will not recognize any decision taken by the U.N. so long as it is not given a seat in the world group.

Russia's veto of the withdrawal proposal in the Security Council, Russia's attempts to keep it off the Assembly agenda, Russia's derision of the 13-nation appeal to the Chinese Communists to halt at the 38th Parallel—all were taken as concrete evidence of the low opinion the Moscow-Peiping axis holds of the demond.

All G.O.P. Senators Will Discuss What To Do With Acheson

Committee Decides This Policy After Closed Session; Little Expected

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Republican Senate leaders decided today to let all G.O.P. senators pass upon a formal request "for the resignation or replacement of Secretary of State Acheson."

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio), chairman, told reporters this was the decision of the Senate G.O.P. Policy Committee.

Taft said the 11-member policy committee, after an hour and a half closed-door session, took no direct action itself.

Instead it agreed to call a conference of all 43 Republican senators early next week, probably Tuesday, for a discussion of the oust-Acheson move as well as the broader subject of foreign and military policies.

No Assurance of Success

Even if the Republican senators agreed to back the demand, there is no assurance it would be met. President Truman has said repeatedly he has no intention of letting Acheson go.

The cabinet member's removal long has been a target of individual Republican senators. They have denounced his foreign policies both in Asia and western Europe and accused him of appeasing Russia abroad and pro-communism at home.

Recent setback by the United Nations forces in Korea have provided them with fresh ammunition.

Senator Ives (R.-N. Y.), who originally voted for Acheson's confirmation, now has brought to a head the question of whether Senate Republicans, as a party, should formally serve President Truman with a demand for Acheson's discharge.

Ives Draws Resolution

Ives drew up this resolution to lay before the 11-member Senate Republican policy committee:

"Recognizing that national unity and national confidence in our government are indispensable at this time of desperate national crisis and recognizing that such unity and such confidence are unobtainable while Secretary Acheson continues as secretary of state, because he no longer enjoys the confidence of the American people, we, Republican members of the United States Senate, call upon the President to appoint a new secretary of state at the earliest possible time.

"We pledge our fullest cooperation with the President and his

Little Hope Seen Reds Will Accept 13-Nation Appeal

Two Leaders Concentrate on Speedup Plans for European Rearmament; Korea Overshadows Conference of President, Prime Minister

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee today were reported seriously considering a blockade of the Red China coast if United Nations troops are long beleaguered or are driven out of Korea.

The proposal was described by diplomatic informants as one of several ways considered for dealing with the Chinese Communist aggression, depending on what actually happens in the Korean fighting.

Prospects Not Bright

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee appeared ready today to consider any reasonable proposal for Korean settlement if it does not call for "appeasement" of the Chinese Communists.

At the same time officials here disavowed any real optimism over the prospects for acceptance by Red China of an appeal by 13 peace seeking Asian countries for the Communists to cease fire and negotiate a settlement.

As the Anglo-American talks entered their fourth day (3:30 p. m., E.S.T.) the President and Prime Minister were concentrating on plans for a speedup in Western European rearmament with the prospect that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower can be named as supreme commander in a week or 10 days.

Differences with France over including German units in a Western European defense force were evidently resolved. France announced last night that she will call a meeting of the Western European nations in Paris next month to draw up plans for a European army.

France agreed to immediate formation of West German combat teams in the combined force—a victory for the U. S., which has been insisting that Germans should be incorporated into a European army as soon as possible.

French Insist

The French previously had insisted on creation of a unified defense ministry and on the pooling of Western Europe's coal and steel before using German troops.

But the critical Korean situation continued to overshadow the Washington conference. Evidence was that if any firm indication of peaceful action by the Chinese Communists was received here it would be immediately considered by Mr. Truman and Attlee.

Meanwhile they were reported to have reached an understanding on the limits beyond which they would not go in negotiating a settlement.

The position may be roughly summarized as one of favoring peace but not at any price. On the part of the American government

U.S. Eighth Holds Unity In Strength

Marines, Soldiers Still Have One Trap to Break From; Garrison Quits Wonsan

Move Is Covered

Destroyers, Koreans Assist Those Taken From City

Tokyo, Dec. 7 (AP)—Allied troops braced on a new hill defense line 25 miles south of fallen Pyongyang today for a stand against steadily advancing vanguards of a million-man Chinese Red Expeditionary Force.

The line stretched inland 70 miles in northwest Korea from the Yellow Sea. It was a defense in depth on commanding heights and not a solid line.

The U. S. Eighth Army, with its long and bitter retreat at a halt, was greatly outnumbered and hard hit but still was a unified fighting force.

The Chinese armies in front of it were estimated at 100,000 men with up to 80,000 combat reserves behind those Reds and hundreds of thousands more in Korea or moving up from Manchuria.

The Eighth Army force on the defense line is something less than the 110,000 men Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker had when he was forced to retreat late in November.

Battle in Blizzard

Northeast of the new line, U. S. Marines and doughboys battled in a blizzard in a dogged effort to break out of Red traps south of the Changjin reservoir. They broke out of one and have to fight through another.

Underscoring the critical situation of the United Nations Forces near the reservoir and elsewhere in the northeast was the withdrawal of the American garrison from the east coast port of Wonsan.

A bombardment by three U. S. destroyers and shore fire by South Korean Marines covered the pullout of Wonsan. Presumably the American garrison at Wonsan was relatively small. It was not identified.

Wonson was captured Oct. 10 by South Korean troops. The same marines trapped at the Changjin reservoir landed at the port Oct. 15 after a week-long sweeping of a minefield offshore. Because the port already had been secured, the marines called its "operation what-the-hell."

Main Escape Route

Hamhung and its nearby port of Hungnam, 50 miles north of Wonsan, now becomes the allies' main escape route in the northeast. It is more centrally located for the widely scattered units of the 10th Corps.

The new line in the northwest is 85 miles north of Seoul, the Korean republic's capital, and is 58 miles north of Parallel 38. General MacArthur described its as arching from the west coast port of Chinnampo to Koksan, an inland town 53 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

There was no explanation as to why the location of the defense line was announced. It previously had been a deep secret.

There were no set lines in the northwest. Three American and two South Korean Divisions are Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that a provision will be made in the 1951 budget for a five per cent cost-of-living bonus "across the board" for city employes.

Storm Heads East With Snow, Cold

Subzero Readings Taken in Arkansas; Midwest Has Much Snow

(By The Associated Press)

An early December storm, bringing heavy snow and subzero cold to the midwest, swept over parts of the south and headed for eastern states today.

It was below zero as far south as Arkansas early today. Sleet and snow swept across Alabama. Parts of Dixie shivered in below freezing readings and the freezing temperatures extended all the way to the west gulf coast.

Snow piled high over the midwest—up to a depth of 28 inches at Duluth, Minn. There was snow all over the middle and upper Mississippi valley and the Lake Superior region. And more fell today.

Rain changed to snow in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee.

There was rain in the southern Great Lakes region and southward into Florida.

The cold weather, after moving southward to the west Gulf states, pushed slowly northeastward into the lower Ohio Valley and Tennessee. The mercury dropped to -8 at Fayetteville, Ark.

The cold and snow was blamed for at least seven deaths in the storm belt.

The strong winds and cold which hit the Texas Panhandle also took a toll of livestock.

Bridge Travel Is More in November

High Water Causes Ferry to Suspend Days During Month

Travel over the three Hudson river bridges under jurisdiction of the New York State Bridge Authority showed an increase of 9.88 per cent in November this year as compared to the same month in 1949, the authority announced today.

The Bear Mountain bridge showed the highest percentage gain with an increase over last year of 11.49 or 9,049 vehicles.

The total for the three bridges was 400,605 this November as compared to 372,768 in 1949, a gain of 26,838 vehicles.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry was behind November, 1949 because of the high water during the storm late in the month when service was suspended for two days.

Totals for the bridges were: Big Van Wheck, 91,826, this year, and 83,326 last. This was a gain of 8,500 vehicles, or 10.20 per cent. The Mid-[illegible] bridge, this year and [illegible] a gain of 21,300 vehicles, or 8.88 per cent. Both Mid-[illegible] this year and 78,750 [illegible].

The ferry carried 4,838 vehicles this year and 5,001 last, and 1,-[illegible] passengers this year as against 1,[illegible] last year. The [illegible] was 294 and that for vehicles 2[illegible].

Over-Curb Parking No Good, Chief Says

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today warned against the practice of parking motor vehicles with two wheels over the curb.

"Sidewalks are for pedestrians and not for automobiles," the chief said, and those who park cars over curbs on narrow streets, or who think they are inside the white line in restricted areas with such parking are violating parking regulations.

Conferee Declares Russian People Do Not Desire War

Roberts Says Man in Streets Feels Friendly Toward U. S.; Says Goods Plentiful

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The opinion that "all the people of Russia want peace" was expressed today by Holland Roberts, of San Francisco, who attended the recent Warsaw peace conference and visited Russia.

He arrived at New York International Airport from Paris today with four other delegates to the Communist inspired Warsaw conference.

They were Willard Uphaus, of New Haven, Conn.; Charles P. Howard, of Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Theresa Robinson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Jackie Clark, of Los Angeles.

Says They Want Peace

Roberts told reporters that he and his group talked with people on the streets of Moscow, Leningrad and Stalingrad.

"We're convinced," he said, "the people of Russia want peace. The Russians with whom we spoke expressed a friendliness for

Intent Not to Quit Campaign in Korea Says Shinwell

Defense Minister Lauds U. S. Soldiers' Gallantry in Unequal Fight in Orient

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell declared in the House of Commons today that "there is no thought in our minds or in that of the American authorities of withdrawal from Korea.

He said there may be "still harder tidings" from the critical front, however. "No one knows what the outcome will be. It would be foolish to underestimate the size or determination of the Chinese intervention."

He told the House U.N. forces already face 270,000 Red Chinese soldiers, with 500,000 more in re-

Reuther Raps Government For Futility and Bungling

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Labor Leader Walter Reuther today accused the government of bungling conversion to defense production and of trying futilely to control "runaway inflation" through a "meat axe approach."

Reuther, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, called for all-out home front mobilization immediately, including provision for "genuine" price control. He said the present price curb law—not yet invoked—allows "not for stabilization of prices but for outright, continuing inflation."

In a statement prepared for a Senate-House Committee (10:30 a. m.) the young union chief said nothing about wage controls, which the law says must be imposed simultaneously with any price restrictions.

Reuther blasted steel price increases put into effect last week, and the auto price hikes announced by General Motors Tuesday. In his statement, he did not mention similar increases by Ford.

"In both cases," Reuther declared, "management is acting out of a completely selfish interest to protect profits which have already risen to the proportions of a major national scandal."

Reuther was invited before the joint committee, set up to study operation of the economic controls law, to discuss Federal Reserve Board Controls on installment buying of automobiles. They provide for a down payment of one-third, with no more than 15 months to clean up the balance. Car dealers and purchasers have termed the restriction too drastic.

Reuther joined in the criticism

French Ask Anti-Red Army In Europe Using Germans

Paris, Dec. 7 (AP) — France pressed today for an anti-Communist army in Europe, bolstered by German manpower, and named one of her top generals to head wavering French defenses in Red-menaced Indochina.

The cabinet announced it will call a meeting of the west European nations in Paris during January to draw up plans for an Atlantic Pact European army. The announcement confirmed that France had agreed to immediate formation of west German combat teams in the Atlantic force.

For the Far East, France named Gen. Jean De Lattre DeTassigny as high commissioner in Indochina, with "full military and civil powers" to direct the war against the Communist-led Vietminh.

De Lattre De Tassigny, who has been serving as commander of infantry in the joint general staff under the Brussels Pact, will take over the duties of both civilian high commissioner Leon Pignon and Gen. Marcel Carpentier, now in command of French forces harassed by Ho Chi Minh's nationalists.

Today's announcement was the first official disclosure that France has withdrawn her insistence on delay in forming German combat units until a unified defense ministry has been created.

Information Minister Albert Gazier said the decision was an emergency providing for a "transitory" phase in European rearmament. France still hopes to see the unified defense ministry set up eventually.

The proposal was described by diplomatic informants as one of several ways considered for dealing with the Chinese Communist aggression, depending on what actually happens in the Korean fighting.

Prospects Not Bright

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee appeared ready today to consider any reasonable proposal for Korean settlement if it does not call for "appeasement" of the Chinese Communists.

At the same time officials here disavowed any real optimism over the prospects for acceptance by Red China of an appeal by 13 peace seeking Asian countries for the Communists to cease fire and negotiate a settlement.

As the Anglo-American talks entered their fourth day (3:30 p. m., E.S.T.) the President and Prime Minister were concentrating on plans for a speedup in Western European rearmament with the prospect that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower can be named as supreme commander in a week or 10 days.

Differences with France over including German units in a Western European defense force were evidently resolved. France announced last night that she will call a meeting of the Western European nations in Paris next month to draw up plans for a European army.

France agreed to immediate formation of West German combat teams in the combined force—a victory for the U. S., which has been insisting that Germans should be incorporated into a European army as soon as possible.

French Insist

The French previously had insisted on creation of a unified defense ministry and on the pooling of Western Europe's coal and steel before using German troops.

But the critical Korean situation continued to overshadow the Washington conference. Evidenee was that if any firm indication of peaceful action by the Chinese Communists was received here it would be immediately considered by Mr. Truman and Attlee.

Meanwhile they were reported to have reached an understanding on the limits beyond which they would not go in negotiating a settlement.

The position may be roughly summarized as one of favoring peace but not at any price. On the part of the American government

Intent Not to Quit Campaign in Korea Says Shinwell

Defense Minister Lauds U. S. Soldiers' Gallantry in Unequal Fight in Orient

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell declared in the House of Commons today that "there is no thought in our minds or in that of the American authorities of withdrawal from Korea.

He said there may be "still harder tidings" from the critical front, however. "No one knows what the outcome will be. It would be foolish to underestimate the size or determination of the Chinese intervention."

He told the House U.N. forces already face 270,000 Red Chinese soldiers, with 500,000 more in re-

Conferee Declares Russian People Do Not Desire War

Roberts Says Man in Streets Feels Friendly Toward U. S.; Says Goods Plentiful

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The opinion that "all the people of Russia want peace" was expressed today by Holland Roberts, of San Francisco, who attended the recent Warsaw peace conference and visited Russia.

He arrived at New York International Airport from Paris today with four other delegates to the Communist inspired Warsaw conference.

They were Willard Uphaus, of New Haven, Conn.; Charles P. Howard, of Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Theresa Robinson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Jackie Clark, of Los Angeles.

Says They Want Peace

Roberts told reporters that he and his group talked with people on the streets of Moscow, Leningrad and Stalingrad.

"We're convinced," he said, "the people of Russia want peace. The Russians with whom we spoke expressed a friendliness for

Over-Curb Parking No Good, Chief Says

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today warned against the practice of parking motor vehicles with two wheels over the curb.

"Sidewalks are for pedestrians and not for automobiles," the chief said, and those who park cars over curbs on narrow streets, or who think they are inside the white line in restricted areas with such parking are violating parking regulations.

U.S. Eighth Holds Unity In Strength

Marines, Soldiers Still Have One Trap to Break From; Garrison Quits Wonsan

Move Is Covered

Destroyers, Koreans Assist Those Taken From City

Tokyo, Dec. 7 (AP)—Allied troops braced on a new hill defense line 25 miles south of fallen Pyongyang today for a stand against steadily advancing vanguards of a million-man Chinese Red Expeditionary Force.

The line stretched inland 70 miles in northwest Korea from the Yellow Sea. It was a defense in depth on commanding heights and not a solid line.

The U. S. Eighth Army, with its long and bitter retreat at a halt, was greatly outnumbered and hard hit but still was a unified fighting force.

The Chinese armies in front of it were estimated at 100,000 men with up to 80,000 combat reserves behind those Reds and hundreds of thousands more in Korea or moving up from Manchuria.

The Eighth Army force on the defense line is something less than the 110,000 men Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker had when he was forced to retreat late in November.

Battle in Blizzard

Northeast of the new line, U. S. Marines and doughboys battled in a blizzard in a dogged effort to break out of Red traps south of the Changjin reservoir. They broke out of one and have to fight through another.

Underscoring the critical situation of the United Nations Forces near the reservoir and elsewhere in the northeast was the withdrawal of the American garrison from the east coast port of Wonsan.

A bombardment by three U. S. destroyers and shore fire by South Korean Marines covered the pull-out of Wonsan. Presumably the American garrison at Wonsan was relatively small. It was not identified.

Wonson was captured Oct. 10 by South Korean troops. The same marines trapped at the Changjin reservoir landed at the port Oct. 15 after a week-long sweeping of a minefield offshore. Because the port already had been secured, the marines called its "operation what-the-hell."

Main Escape Route

Hamhung and its nearby port of Hungnam, 50 miles north of Wonsan, now becomes the allies' main escape route in the northeast. It is more centrally located for the widely scattered units of the 10th Corps.

The new line in the northwest is 85 miles north of Seoul, the Korean republic's capital, and is 58 miles north of Parallel 38. General MacArthur described its as arching from the west coast port of Chinnampo to Koksan, an inland town 53 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

There was no explanation as to why the location of the defense line was announced. It previously had been a deep secret.

There were no set lines in the northwest. Three American and two South Korean Divisions are

Reuther Raps Government For Futility and Bungling

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Labor Leader Walter Reuther today accused the government of bungling conversion to defense production and of trying futilely to control "runaway inflation" through a "meat axe approach."

Reuther, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, called for all-out home front mobilization immediately, including provision for "genuine" price control. He said the present price curb law—not yet invoked—allows "not for stabilization of prices but for chronic, continuing inflation."

In a statement prepared for a Senate-House Committee (10:30 a. m.) the young union chief said nothing about wage controls, which the law says must be imposed simultaneously with any price restrictions.

Reuther blasted steel price increases put into effect last week, and the auto price hikes announced by General Motors Tuesday. In his statement, he did not mention similar increases by Ford.

"In both cases," Reuther declared, "management is acting out of a completely selfish interest to protect profits which have already risen to the proportions of a major national scandal."

Reuther was invited before the joint committee, set up to study operation of the economic controls law, to discuss Federal Reserve Board Controls on installment buying of automobiles. They provide for a down payment of one-third, with no more than 15 months to clean up the balance. Car dealers and purchasers have termed the restriction too drastic.

Reuther joined in the criticism

French Ask Anti-Red Army In Europe Using Germans

Paris, Dec. 7 (AP) — France pressed today for an anti-Communist army in Europe, bolstered by German manpower, and named one of her top generals to head wavering French defenses in Red-menaced Indochina.

The cabinet announced it will call a meeting of the west European nations in Paris during January to draw up plans for an Atlantic Pact European army. The announcement confirmed that France had agreed to immediate formation of west German combat teams in the Atlantic force.

For the Far East, France named Gen. Jean De Lattre DeTassigny as high commissioner in Indochina, with "full military and civil powers" to direct the war against the Communist-led Vietminh.

De Lattre De Tassigny, who has been serving as commander of infantry in the joint general staff under the Brussels Pact, will take over the duties of both civilian high commissioner Leon Pignon and Gen. Marcel Carpentier, now in command of French forces harassed by Ho Chi Minh's nationalists.

Today's announcement was the first official disclosure that France has withdrawn her insistence on delay in forming German combat units until a unified defense ministry has been created.

Information Minister Albert Gazier said the decision was an emergency providing for a "transitory" phase in European rearmament. France still hopes to see the unified defense ministry set up eventually.

Faced with strong opposition at

Scouts Will Collect Paper and Rags to Help Salvage Crisis

Boy Scouts of Kingston will collect newspapers, magazines and rags on Saturday, Dec. 16 in the First, Second, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth wards in an effort to help used paper processors obtain much needed materials. It is estimated that the mills will need three quarters of a million tons of paper this month and supplies in warehouses are extremely short, it is reported.

Other sections of the city will be covered in later collections which will be announced.

Persons in the designated wards are asked to have their papers and magazines tied in bundles of about 40 to 50 pounds and rags boxed or tied into bundles on Saturday the 16th. Bundles are to be left on porches, where the Scouts can get them.

Scrap metals are not to be out for collection at this time, as the Scouts will pick up only paper and rags.

The different troops of the city will be assigned the separate wards. Entire proceeds of the collections will go directly into the various troop treasuries.

The 63 Democratic members of the Assembly and 23 Democratic senators elected Nov. 7 have been invited to attend, Fitzpatrick said.

Desmond Favors Primary System

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—A Republican legislator proposed today that candidates for governor and other high state offices be nominated in primary elections.

Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh said the present convention system "lends itself well to the machinations of party bosses and the exclusion of civic leaders and the public."

He will introduce a bill in the 1951 Legislature to authorize the nomination in the fall primary election of candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller and judges of the Court of Appeals.

Assemblyman Sharon J. Mauhs, Cobleskill Democrat, made a similar proposal last fall, shortly after the Democratic and Republican state conventions.

Candidates for governor and other top state offices were nominated in primary elections from 1913 to 1921.

Would Need 12,000 Signatures

Under Desmond's proposed legislation, a person seeking nomination to state office would have to obtain 12,000 petition signatures, including at least 50 from each county, in order to get on the primary ballot.

Desmond said in a statement that Independent Vincent R. Impellitteri's election as mayor of New York and the "low vote" for Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Democratic-Liberal nominee for governor, was "a public protest against the choice of candidates by party bosses."

Desmond added that the people "are learning that conventions are closed affairs in the clutches of bosses who usually pick candidates in advance of conventions."

"Delegates to conventions rarely represent the voters or even themselves," he contended.

"It is high time," Desmond asserted, "that both our major political parties end the boss-controlled party conventions and return the nominations for high state offices to the people."

Postmasters Will Hold Yule Meeting Dec. 14

At the recent meeting of the Ulster County Postmasters' Association held at the central postoffice in Kingston, Mrs. Elsa D. Hart gave an interesting report on her trip to the national convention in St. Louis, and announcement was made that the Christmas party is to be held December 14. Each one attending is to bring a gift for exchange.

Refreshments were served by Postmasters Feldman and Schoonmaker.

Postmasters present were George Stanton, Pine Bush; George Kent, Hurley; C. House Schoonmaker, Ulster Park; Leola Feldman, Eddyville; Elsa Hart, High Falls; George McEvoy, Tillson; Gertrude Miller, Accord; M. O. Janelli, Milton; Jay Zimmerman, New Paltz; Hazel Kloepper, Binnewater; Ida Pietrobelli, Cottekill; Norman Rice, Clintondale and Kurt Lasar, Ardonia.

Mrs. John Miller of Accord was a visitor.

A section of a large drain tile may be buried to be used as winter storage of cabbage and other vegetables, provided a tight cover is added.

Heavy Jaw Pressure

An adult alligator under observation at the St. Augustine, Florida, Alligator Farm was tested for jaw pressure. His bite had a pressure of nearly one thousand pounds, but he swallows food whole.

SLURS AT KEFAUVER PROBE

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, chairman of the roving Senate Crime Investigating Committee, is said to be in the doghouse with some of his Democratic colleagues. They feel his disclosures did serious harm to Democratic nominees in some states on November 7.

They have in mind especially the case of Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, outgoing Senate majority leader. Lucas appears to have been definitely hurt by facts the Kefauver group helped unearth during their inquiry in Chicago.

A prospective committee witness was murdered. The Democratic choice for Cook County sheriff, Daniel Gilbert, gave the committee a feeble explanation of how he managed to amass $350,000 over the years on a $9000 salary as chief investigator for the state's attorney.

Gilbert proved a millstone around the necks of top Democratic candidates. Lucas barely sneaked home ahead of his Republican opponent in Cook County, where the polished Democratic machine could normally deliver him a margin in excess of 200,000 votes.

No other case was as pointed as this. But generally the committee's findings tended to reflect more on Democratic regimes than upon Republican. And some angry Democrats rate this fact as one of the really decisive elements in the country-wide outcome.

For the sake of their own standing as lawmakers, these men had better not make their names known publicly. For their attitude is quite indefensible. It amounts to saying that the Kefauver committee should have soft-pedaled its investigation wherever it proved embarrassing to Democrats.

The committee was authorized in this year 1950 to do its job. Every man who voted for the inquiry knew full well this was an election year. That the investigation was nevertheless approved certainly suggests that most men wanted a fair and complete probe without any punches pulled. They were willing to brave the consequences politically.

All the more reason to censure the handful who, by blaming Kefauver for conducting an open and honest inquiry, reveal their essential insincerity.

It's too early for even a tentative appraisal of the committee's work. But it evidently has tried to keep the investigation earnest, non-partisan and genuinely searching. On the basis of the record to date, it merits the applause of Democrats and Republicans alike. The boos should be reserved for those who think it should have made itself a servant of one political party.

Gibraltar is said to be the most densely-populated spot in the world. And all the time we thought that distinction went to the parking lots.

U.M.T. FOR AUSTRALIA

Australia is considering compulsory military training for all men eighteen and over. A bill to that effect has been introduced as part of the government program. The only exemptions form an odd combination: coal miners, students and conscientious objectors.

Australia was deeply alarmed by the Japanese aggression in World War II. Had it not been for the vigorous support of the United States, Australia might well have been conquered by Japan. What Japan came near doing might, the Australians may now fear, be accomplished by Communist China with Russian aid.

Previously the Australians seem hardly to have realized how exposed is their position as regards the Orient. They insisted on maintaining such provocative legislation as an absolute ban against Oriental immigration, and an all but absolute prohibition of immigration of any kind. Only British were welcomed, and only those British who could meet severe economic tests. The Australians seem to have believed that a continent of nearly 3,000,000 square miles, almost the size of the United States, could be held unchallenged by fewer than 8,000,000 people, even though they were faced by an Orient bursting with surplus population

The progressive adoption of peace-time conscription indicates that the Australians are awakening to the dangers of their position.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS

To grasp the enormous forces of the Chinese Communists it is necessary to go back into their history.

In 1919, students in Shanghai and Peking determined that China would never sign the Paris peace treaty which recognized Japan's rights in Shantung. A students' strike was organized which soon spread to a general strike, encompassing the entire nation. It was a normal response of patriotic youth to the betrayal of their country, an ally, by the statesmen at Versailles. In my book, "The Tinderbox of Asia," published in 1932, I wrote:

". . . I do not recall a single instance of a student expressing antagonism to Russia. I do remember numerous expressions of a desire to visit Russia to discover there the process of freeing China from imperialism as Russia was being freed from imperialism. . . ."

Sun Yat-sen was curious about Soviet Russia not because of its social and political theories but because the Russians had succeeded in pushing out the westerners. Hundreds, perhaps even thousands of Chinese students trekked to Soviet Russia to see for themselves. In Russia they encountered no racial attitudes of any kind. The Anglo-Saxon superiority which these students had known in Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Hankow and even Peking, did not exist.

By 1920, the Young Socialist Association and the Secretariat of the Chinese Labor Union had come into existence. These were the forerunners of the Chinese Communist Party, which in 1950 has had an uninterrupted, militant existence of 30 years. China was actually represented at the Baku Congress of Nations in September, 1920, presided over by Zinoviev, president of the Third International. Li Ta-chao was the Chinese member. At the second congress of the Third International, he reported that China was fully prepared for a Communist movement. "China was refused everything at the peace conference," he said. The first Congress of the Chinese Communist Party was held in 1922.

Michael Borodin, an American Communist in the service of Russia, was made adviser to Sun by agreement with Russia in 1924. The process of infiltration was then worked out experimentally along these lines:

"Dr. Sun and Borodin settled the policy of the Kuomintang on the basis of a threefold thesis: 1. co-operation between the Kuomintang and the Chinese Communist Party; 2. co-operation between Nationalist China and Soviet Russia; 3. support of the labourers and peasants movement. Dr. Sun agreed that members of the Chinese Communist Party could become members of the Kuomintang as individuals. Thus the ranks of the Kuomintang were swelled by a new membership, which numerically was larger than the former non-Communistic membership. Many of the older Kuomintang leaders were opposed to swamping the party in this manner, but none, at the beginning, dared to oppose Dr. Sun."

One of the most significant agencies of Communist control, established during this period, was the Whampoa Military Academy, of which Chiang Kai-shek was the head, and the Russian, General Galens-Bluecher, the principal Russian instructor. This school was modelled upon the Red army schools founded by Leon Trotzky. Russian instructors, drillmasters and technical experts were sent to Whampoa to produce the new officers of China's Red army.

An event occurred on May 30, 1925, which gave the revolution its springboard. In the course of a strike in a Japanese-owned cotton mill in Shanghai, a Sikh policeman in the international settlemet shot at a Chinese worker.

The Communists seized the incident to develop a widespread anti-British movement which took on the characteristics of a general strike. By exploiting anti-foreignism, they tied the hands of the conservative elements in the country. They were able to organize labor and students unions and to start the actual civil war under the leadership of Borodin and Chiang.

The relations between Borodin and Chiang had become extremely antagonistic during the Christmas week of 1926 Chiang escaped to Shanghai, where he began to organize the Nationalist government at Nanking, thus preventing Communist control of China as far back as 1927, but the Communist army, trained by Russians, continued its operations as a guerrilla force.

In 1932, I wrote:

". . . My experience in Russia during the Communist revolution confirms the opinion that such a revolution can only succeed if any important units of the army are willing to join the Communists. In present circumstances in China it is possible to believe that a large section of the army will go over if the Communists win a decisive victory."

That Body of Yours

FINDING CONDITION OF STOMACH

The symptoms of cancer of the stomach are sometimes so mild that the patient does not consult his physician until it is too late. He thinks he is afflicted with mild indigestion and at the very worst is only a little inflammation of the lining of the stomach (gastritis) present.

Ulcer of the stomach is more readily diagnosed by patient and physician because the pain comes on regularly two to three hours after eating and can be relieved by eating food or taking an alkali, such as baking soda.

The symptoms of cancer of the stomach are: (a) feeling of discomfort at any time — before, after or between meals; (b) gas and distension; (c) loss of appetite; (d) tired feeling and loss of weight.

When cancer is suspected, the X-ray is considered the best single method of learning whether or not it is present. Another method is giving the patient a test meal, allowing stomach digestion to progress for a certain time and then withdrawing the contents of the stomach and examining for presence of hydrochloric acid, the extent of digestion within the given period, and the presence, if any, of suspicious cancer cells.

A third method of examining is by use of the gastroscope, in which a small mirror within a hollow tube is pushed down the throat into the stomach, enabling the physician to see a goodly portion of the lining of the stomach. He can tell by the color and appearance whether inflammation (gastritis) or ulcer or cancer is present.

It is interesting to learn that by means of a new operating flexible gastroscope, it is now possible to remove a tiny portion of the stomach lining (biopsy) which portion can be examined under microscope and so learn whether or not cancer is present.

In Archives of Pathology, Chicago, Dr. E. B. Benedict states that a total of 63 biopsy specimens was obtained without accident or complication by the use of this new operating flexible gastroscope, and, was found especialy valuable in differentiating between cancer and gastritis. And, fortunately, the condition of tissue lining the stomach, as learned by biopsy, may give a clue as to what condition—ulcer or cancer—may occur in the future, and early treatment may be given.

Wired for the Same Old Sound

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—There is a certain vein of similarity running through the lives of the two men who conferred this week regarding the course to be followed by the British and American governments toward future war or peace.

Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman both are left-of-center liberals, both have spent much of their lives in government, both have tried to work for the less-privileged sector of the British and American people.

Neither is considered a strong man in his own country, neither is a man of much imagination, neither has the force, the flair, the genius of two others who conferred a great deal during the past decade—Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, Clement Attlee, in his quiet way and backed by a powerful Labor Party, has put across a schedule of socialist legislation which staid old Britons never dreamed could happen.

And while these reforms were passed in the face of vigorous conservative opposition, nevertheless Attlee today has one important advantage over President Truman. He has the support of his opponent, Winston Churchill, when it comes to foreign policy.

Churchill Advised Trip

Furthermore, he has the support of most of the Conservative Party. On the other hand, Truman of late has had the bitter, sometimes vitriolic opposition of a majority of Republican senators in regard to almost every foreign-policy move he has made.

Attlee not only was careful to get Churchill's support before he left London, but Churchill even advised him on how to force Truman's hand regarding the trip.

What happened was that immediately after the prime minister heard of Truman's atom-bomb statement, he called on Churchill. Though political opponents, the two men served in the same coalition war cabinet together and are personal friends. At one time Attlee was Churchill's deputy prime minister, and handled British domestic affairs while Churchill was busy with the war.

With this background of friendship, it is not hard to understand why Attlee should have consulted Churchill or that Churchill advised him that he should take the trip to Washington. Furthermore, Churchill suggested that inasmuch as Truman might be opposed to the trip, Attlee should make a premature announcement of his plan—thus making it impossible for Truman to decline. This was why news of Attlee's plans prematurely leaked from London.

Churchill also promised Attlee that no effort would be made to overthrow the Labor government while he was away.

Attlee's Tory Background

Though Truman and Attlee have much in common politically, Attlee came from more conservative surroundings. His father was a Tory lawyer and president of the British equivalent to the American Bar Association. After studying at England's ritziest schools and being admitted to the bar, however, young Attlee suddenly became a social worker. At the age of 24 he went to work and lived in Limehouse, one of London's workmen's districts, and he has made his life with labor ever since.

Unlike Mr. Truman, who frequently lapses into Missouri mule-driver's language, Attlee's diction is cultured, sometimes poetic. In fact, he has written some widely quoted poems, one of them regarding his own workingmen's district, which reads:

"I hear the feet of many men
who go their way . . .
Through streets that have no
pity, and streets where men
decay."

Repairs Own Pipes

Attlee is married to Violet Helen Millar, and for many years they lived with their four children in a modest house in a London suburb where Attlee did a little gardening and repaired his own pipes in his own carpenter's shop.

Unlike Truman, Attlee is a halting, none-too-forgetful speaker. When he speaks impromptu, he hesitates and repeats. The President, on the other hand, is at his best when speaking off the cuff. In conferences, Attlee tries to win his point by charm and persuasion. The President sometimes gets impatient and petulant.

When Foreign Minister Molotov visited Truman a few days after Roosevelt's death while en route to the San Francisco conference, the new President spent 45 minutes bawling him out. There have been many occasions when Molotov deserved such a scolding. But at that time, when our Russian relations were on a relatively even keel, many diplomats felt that Truman touched off a new chapter of Soviet enmity.

In Europe, Attlee and his government are considered among the most vigorous of all opponents to communism, and it is sometimes predicted that, in case the Russians overran Europe, the Attlee cabinet would be the first to be lined up against the wall. This is because the British Labor Party has more to fear from communism than any other ism—and vice versa.

Personally, Attlee has been among the toughest British fighters against both fascism and communism. He refused a post in the Chamberlain government because of Chamberlain's Munich appeasement, and he was among the first to go on record against the Japanese war lords, Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia, and the Franco revolution in Spain.

Having opposed Chamberlain's appeasement policy toward Germany he now finds himself in somewhat the same difficult position in regard to any appeasement of Moscow in the Far East.

Washington Pipeline

Gen. Bedell Smith, able ex-ambassador to Russia, told cabinet and Congressional leaders last week that we can never hope to defeat Soviet Russia by manpower. "The only way to subdue the Russians while she continues to snipe at us through her satellites is by continued propaganda to get the truth behind the Iron Curtain—and where that fails, counter-revolutions in the small countries the Soviet has enslaved," declared General Smith ....There is a move among Democratic senators to replace General MacArthur with General Marshall on the ground that the Chinese knew Marshall when he was ambassador to China.... More than 1,400 tons of food, arms and clothing have been dropped by airplane to our stranded marines and infantry in northeast Korea. Despite this, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has informed the White House that he doesn't know how long the stranded troops will be able to hold out.

Fell 1,000 Feet When Parachutes Snarled—Unhurt!

Master Sergeant James R. Hendrix of the 11th Airborne Division fell 1,000 feet from an airplane and suffered no injuries except shock and minor bruises. The fall occurred at Fort Benning, Georgia, on September 8, 1949, while making a parachute jump. The buckles of his combat boots caught on the suspension lines of his main parachute and prevented that 'chute from opening. He pulled his reserve parachute, but it failed to open and he hit the ground so hard that his body made a 6-inch indentation in the ground.

American Public Opinion Credited With Decision to Continue Korean Fighting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 7—American public opinion has won out. There is to be no appeasement. There is to be no surrender of American prestige. The fighting will go on. Evacuation of U.N. troops from Korea will occur only in those places where the Chinese send in an overwhelming number of troops.

This means that for several days, at least, while peace proposals are being exchanged through intermediary nations, there will not be much change in the broad situation in respect to large-scale war.

Neither side is obligated at the moment to stop military operations at any particular point and unless there is a "cease fire" order, the war in Korea will proceed just as if there were no peace negotiations under way.

The one big handicap, however, which the U. N. forces do undergo relates to an official reluctance here to bomb Manchurian bases or offer retaliatory blows in China through air power.

This is tantamount to saying that the U.N. is fighting a war with its hands tied behind its back. It is not likely, on the other hand, that this situation will continue very long though it is deemed expedient to operate that way for several days anyway, on the theory that the most important job ahead is to stablize the U. N. military defense line and at the same time to explore the possibilities of a peaceful settlement.

While the situation inside Korea goes on as before, there are certain advantages possible now which were not present a few weeks ago. For one thing, even if MacArthur had met no opposition as he sent his troops to the northern boundary of Korea, there would have been no assurance that the Chinese troops in Manchuria would not have descended upon the U.N armies without warning at any time. A long period of nervous suspense has been averted.

What the developments of the last few days have brought about in reality is a showdown. It will be recalled that it was intimated recently from General MacArthur's headquarters that one of the reasons for the offensive was to test out Chinese intentions. Whatever the route by which it has been attained, a definition of Chinese purposes in North Korea has been compelled. This will be achieved now through the current peace negotiations. If the Chinese Communists make the mistake of maintaining an adamant attitude and insist that U.N. troops be evacuated from Korea before there is any discussion of peace, the whole world will recognize this as the action of an aggressor state, bent upon achieving a military advantage without regard to the consequences on the diplomatic side.

There are many here who think that there is still an opportunity to drive a wedge between the Russian and the Chinese Communists. It is being assumed that Mao will not wish to embroil his country in a war with the United States and risk counter-revolution, not merely from Chiang Kai-shek, but from other malcontents who would be glad to have the opportunity to get moral support for a counter-revolutionary movement.

The United States, moreover, is not helpless with respect to a war inside of China and can keep up a strong naval blockade as well as air bombardment if the Chinese Reds should relentlessly plunge their own country into war by insisting upon impossible peace terms.

There is absolutely no official knowledge here of what the Chinese Communists' intentions really are. Nor is it believed that any delegation at the U.N. has any basic information on the subject, but nevertheless many nations are striving desperately to persuade the Chinese Communists that they have gone pretty far already, and that their future opportunity to get into the U.N. and to establish themselves as a nation, independent of Russia, rests solely upon the policies to be pursued by Mao in the present crisis.

On pure logic there would be grounds for optimism because only a war lord, hopelessly bound to Moscow, would persist in a course that antagonizes the U.N., including the United States. Such optimism as prevails here is based upon the theory that the Chinese Communists will not go to extremes, but will listen to some compromise plan which will not involve appeasement on the part of the U.N.

The pessimists, however, of who there are many—both on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington—insist that the die has been cast and that Chinese communism is directed by Moscow, and that World War III, in effect, has been begun, and that it will not end until there is a showdown with Russia, as well.

Meanwhile, mobilization plans are in the making and Prime Minister Attlee's visit here has cleared the air to a large extent, so that unity among the allies will prove to be the primary result of his visit.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—To the great accumulation of proof that Franklin D. Roosevelt was crooked in little things as well as great, I report that he literally stole passages from a book and palmed them off as original composition in an article which, by his own precaution, was not to be published until he was dead. The article was a tribute to the old Cunard liner Mauretania. Under Roosevelt's by-line, it was printed in the June, 1950, issue of Sea Breezes, "The Ship Lovers' Digest," an English magazine, with the title "Queen With a Fighting Heart."

The excerpts in question were stolen from a book entitled "Mauretania — Landfalls and Departures," by Humphrey Robertson Jordan, published in London by Hodder, and Stoughton in June 1936. A brief foreword to Roosevelt's piece, in which he affects great knowledge of ships and seafaring, although he never sailed deep water in any other role than that of first class passenger, states that this effort was put together in August of 1936, at a time when Mr. Jordan's book was at hand for consultation and cribbing.

After the June issue of Sea Breezes had carried the Roosevelt piece with a proud little note celebrating this coup, the August issue of the same magazine carried a letter in the Vox Pop attributed to one Henry Maxwell, who said he thought Roosevelt "must, I think, have had by his hand, when dicating the article" the Jordan book referred to.

Mr. Maxwell then compared the wording of Roosevelt's story in one paragraph of unusually good descriptive writing with Jordan's earlier work.

Roosevelt's piece ran: "To no other ship belonged that trick of hers—that thrust and dip and drive into the seas and through them which would wreck the rails of the 'Monkey Island' with solid sea or playfully spatter salt water on the captain's boiled shirt as he took a turn on the bridge before going down to dinner."

Jordan's version of the same thing had been: "That thrust and dip and drive of hers into the seas and through them, that trick of hers which could wreck the rails of the Monkey Island with solid sea or playfully spatter salt water on a commander's boiled shirt, did not belong to any other ship."

Mr. Maxwell's letter closed with the restrained comment that this was not the only indication that the late president had "relied on Jordan's book for many particulars and descriptions."

Nor was it.

In Jordan's preface this line occurs: "For 22 years she remained the world's fastest liner."

Roosevelt put it thus: "For 21

Dr. Sun agreed that members of the Chinese Communist Party could become members of the Kuomintang as individuals. Thus the ranks of the Kuomintang were swelled by a new membership, which numerically was larger than the former non-Communistic membership. Many of the older Kuomintang leaders were opposed to swamping the party in this manner, but none, at the beginning, dared to oppose Dr. Sun."

One of the most significant agencies of Communist control, established during this period, was the Whampoa Military Academy, of which Chiang Kai-shek was the head, and the Russian, General Galens-Bluecher, the principal Russian instructor. This school was modelled upon the Red army schools founded by Leon Trotzky. Russian instructors, drillmasters and technical experts were sent to Whampoa to produce the new officers of China's Red army.

An event occurred on May 30, 1925, which gave the revolution its springboard. In the course of a strike in a Japanese-owned cotton mill in Shanghai, a Sikh policeman in the international settlemet shot at a Chinese worker.

The Communists seized the incident to develop a widespread anti-British movement which took on the characteristics of a general strike. By exploiting anti-foreignism, they tied the hands of the conservative elements in the country. They were able to organize labor and students unions and to start the actual civil war under the leadership of Borodin and Chiang.

The relations between Borodin and Chiang had become extremely antagonistic during the Christmas week of 1926 Chiang escaped to Shanghai, where he began to organize the Nationalist government at Nanking, thus preventing Communist control of China as far back as 1927, but the Communist army, trained by Russians, continued its operations as a guerrilla force.

In 1932, I wrote:

". . . My experience in Russia during the Communist revolution confirms the opinion that such a revolution can only succeed if any important units of the army are willing to join the Communists. In present circumstances in China it is possible to believe that a large section of the army will go over if the Communists win a decisive victory."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FINDING CONDITION OF STOMACH

The symptoms of cancer of the stomach are sometimes so mild that the patient does not consult his physician until it is too late. He thinks he is afflicted with mild indigestion and at the very worst is only a little inflammation of the lining of the stomach (gastritis) present.

Ulcer of the stomach is more readily diagnosed by patient and physician because the pain comes on regularly two to three hours after eating and can be relieved by eating food or taking an alkali, such as baking soda.

The symptoms of cancer of the stomach are: (a) feeling of discomfort at any time — before, after or between meals; (b) gas and distension; (c) loss of appetite; (d) tired feeling and loss of weight.

When cancer is suspected, the X-ray is considered the best single method of learning whether or not it is present. Another method is giving the patient a test meal, allowing stomach digestion to progress for a certain time and then withdrawing the contents of the stomach and examining for presence of hydrochloric acid, the extent of digestion within the given period, and the presence, if any, of suspicious cancer cells.

A third method of examining is by use of the gastroscope, in which a small mirror within a hollow tube is pushed down the throat into the stomach, enabling the physician to see a goodly portion of the lining of the stomach. He can tell by the color and appearance whether inflammation (gastritis) or ulcer or cancer is present.

It is interesting to learn that by means of a new operating flexible gastroscope, it is now possible to remove a tiny portion of the stomach lining (biopsy) which portion can be examined under microscope and so learn whether or not cancer is present.

In Archives of Pathology, Chicago, Dr. E. B. Benedict states that a total of 63 biopsy specimens was obtained without accident or complication by the use of this new operating flexible gastroscope, and, was found especialy valuable in differentiating between cancer and gastritis. And, fortunately, the condition of tissue lining the stomach, as learned by biopsy, may give a clue as to what condition—ulcer or cancer—may occur in the future, and early treatment may be given.

Wired for the Same Old Sound

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—There is a certain vein of similarity running through the lives of the two men who conferred this week regarding the course to be followed by the British and American governments toward future war or peace.

Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman both are left-of-center liberals, both have spent much of their lives in government, both have tried to work for the less-privileged sector of the British and American people.

Neither is considered a strong man in his own country, neither is a man of much imagination, neither has the force, the flair, the genius of two others who conferred a great deal during the past decade—Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, Clement Attlee, in his quiet way and backed by a powerful Labor Party, has put across a schedule of socialist legislation which staid old Britons never dreamed could happen.

And while these reforms were passed in the face of vigorous conservative opposition, nevertheless Attlee today has one important advantage over President Truman. He has the support of his opponent, Winston Churchill, when it comes to foreign policy.

Churchill Advised Trip

Furthermore, he has the support of most of the Conservative Party. On the other hand, Truman of late has had the bitter, sometimes vitriolic opposition of a majority of Republican senators in regard to almost every foreign-policy move he has made.

Attlee not only was careful to get Churchill's support before he left London, but Churchill even advised him on how to force Truman's hand regarding the trip.

What happened was that immediately after the prime minister heard of Truman's atom-bomb statement, he called on Churchill. Though political opponents, the two men served in the same coalition war cabinet together and are personal friends. At one time Attlee was Churchill's deputy prime minister, and handled British domestic affairs while Churchill was busy with the war.

With this background of friendship, it is not hard to understand why Attlee should have consulted Churchill or that Churchill advised him that he should take the trip to Washington. Furthermore, Churchill suggested that inasmuch as Truman might be opposed to the trip, Attlee should make a premature announcement of his plan—thus making it impossible for Truman to decline. This was why news of Attlee's plans prematurely leaked from London.

Churchill also promised Attlee that no effort would be made to overthrow the Labor government while he was away.

Attlee's Tory Background

Though Truman and Attlee have much in common politically, Attlee came from more conservative surroundings. His father was a Tory lawyer and president of the British equivalent to the American Bar Association. After studying at England's ritziest schools and being admitted to the bar, however, young Attlee suddenly became a social worker. At the age of 24 he went to work and lived in Limehouse, one of London's workmen's districts, and he has made his life with labor ever since.

Unlike Mr. Truman, who frequently lapses into Missouri mule-driver's language, Attlee's diction is cultured, sometimes poetic. In fact, he has written some widely quoted poems, one of them regarding his own workingmen's district, which reads:

"I hear the feet of many men
who go their way . . .
Through streets that have no
pity, and streets where men
decay."

Repairs Own Pipes

Attlee is married to Violet Helen Millar, and for many years they lived with their four children in a modest house in a London suburb where Attlee did a little gardening and repaired his own pipes in his own carpenter's shop.

Unlike Truman, Attlee is a halting, none-too-forgetful speaker. When he speaks impromptu, he hesitates and repeats. The President, on the other hand, is at his best when speaking off the cuff. In conferences, Attlee tries to win his point by charm and persuasion. The President sometimes gets impatient and petulant.

When Foreign Minister Molotov visited Truman a few days after Roosevelt's death while en route to the San Francisco conference, the new President spent 45 minutes bawling him out. There have been many occasions when Molotov deserved such a scolding. But at that time, when our Russian relations were on a relatively even keel, many diplomats felt that Truman touched off a new chapter of Soviet enmity.

In Europe, Attlee and his government are considered among the most vigorous of all opponents to communism, and it is sometimes predicted that, in case the Russians overran Europe, the Attlee cabinet would be the first to be lined up against the wall. This is because the British Labor Party has more to fear from communism than any other ism—and vice versa.

Personally, Attlee has been among the toughest British fighters against both fascism and communism. He refused a post in the Chamberlain government because of Chamberlain's Munich appeasement, and he was among the first to go on record against the Japanese war lords, Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia, and the Franco revolution in Spain.

Having opposed Chamberlain's appeasement policy toward Germany he now finds himself in somewhat the same difficult position in regard to any appeasement of Moscow in the Far East.

Washington Pipeline

Gen. Bedell Smith, able ex-ambassador to Russia, told cabinet and Congressional leaders last week that we can never hope to defeat Soviet Russia by manpower. "The only way to subdue the Russians while she continues to snipe at us through her satellites is by continued propaganda to get the truth behind the Iron Curtain—and where that fails, counter-revolutions in the small countries the Soviet has enslaved," declared General Smith ....There is a move among Democratic senators to replace General MacArthur with General Marshall on the ground that the Chinese knew Marshall when he was ambassador to China.... More than 1,400 tons of food, arms and clothing have been dropped by airplane to our stranded marines and infantry in northeast Korea. Despite this, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has informed the White House that he doesn't know how long the stranded troops will be able to hold out.

Ripley's—Believe It or Not!

Fell 1,000 Feet When Parachutes Snarled—Unhurt!

Master Sergeant James R. Hendrix of the 11th Airborne Division fell 1,000 feet from an airplane and suffered no injuries except shock and minor bruises. The fall occurred at Fort Benning, Georgia, on September 8, 1949, while making a parachute jump. The buckles of his combat boots caught on the suspension lines of his main parachute and prevented that 'chute from opening. He pulled his reserve parachute, but it failed to open and he hit the ground so hard that his body made a 6-inch indentation in the ground.

American Public Opinion Credited With Decision to Continue Korean Fighting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 7—American public opinion has won out. There is to be no appeasement. There is to be no surrender of American prestige. The fighting will go on. Evacuation of U.N. troops from Korea will occur only in those places where the Chinese send in an overwhelming number of troops.

This means that for several days, at least, while peace proposals are being exchanged through intermediary nations, there will not be much change in the broad situation in respect to large-scale war.

Neither side is obligated at the moment to stop military operations at any particular point and unless there is a "cease fire" order, the war in Korea will proceed just as if there were no peace negotiations under way.

The one big handicap, however, which the U. N. forces do undergo relates to an official reluctance here to bomb Manchurian bases or offer retaliatory blows in China through air power.

This is tantamount to saying that the U.N. is fighting a war with its hands tied behind its back. It is not likely, on the other hand, that this situation will continue very long though it is deemed expedient to operate that way for several days anyway, on the theory that the most important job ahead is to stablize the U. N. military defense line and at the same time to explore the possibilities of a peaceful settlement.

While the situation inside Korea goes on as before, there are certain advantages possible now which were not present a few weeks ago. For one thing, even if MacArthur had met no opposition as he sent his troops to the northern boundary of Korea, there would have been no assurance that the Chinese troops in Manchuria would not have descended upon the U.N armies without warning at any time. A long period of nervous suspense has been averted.

What the developments of the last few days have brought about in reality is a showdown. It will be recalled that it was intimated recently from General MacArthur's headquarters that one of the reasons for the offensive was to test out Chinese intentions. Whatever the route by which it has been attained, a definition of Chinese purposes in North Korea has been compelled. This will be achieved now through the current peace negotiations. If the Chinese Communists make the mistake of maintaining an adamant attitude and insist that U.N. troops be evacuated from Korea before there is any discussion of peace, the whole world will recognize this as the action of an aggressor state, bent upon achieving a military advantage without regard to the consequences on the diplomatic side.

There are many here who think that there is still an opportunity to drive a wedge between the Russian and the Chinese Communists. It is being assumed that Mao will not wish to embroil his country in a war with the United States and risk counter-revolution, not merely from Chiang Kai-shek, but from other malcontents who would be glad to have the opportunity to get moral support for a counter-revolutionary movement.

The United States, moreover, is not helpless with respect to a war inside of China and can keep up a strong naval blockade as well as air bombardment if the Chinese Reds should relentlessly plunge their own country into war by insisting upon impossible peace terms.

There is absolutely no official knowledge here of what the Chinese Communists' intentions really are. Nor is it believed that any delegation at the U.N. has any basic information on the subject, but nevertheless many nations are striving desperately to persuade the Chinese Communists that they have gone pretty far already, and that their future opportunity to get into the U.N. and to establish themselves as a nation, independent of Russia, rests solely upon the policies to be pursued by Mao in the present crisis.

On pure logic there would be grounds for optimism because only a war lord, hopelessly bound to Moscow, would persist in a course that antagonizes the U.N., including the United States. Such optimism as prevails here is based upon the theory that the Chinese Communists will not go to extremes, but will listen to some compromise plan which will not involve appeasement on the part of the U.N.

The pessimists, however, of who there are many—both on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington—insist that the die has been cast and that Chinese communism is directed by Moscow, and that World War III, in effect, has been begun, and that it will not end until there is a showdown with Russia, as well.

Meanwhile, mobilization plans are in the making and Prime Minister Attlee's visit here has cleared the air to a large extent, so that unity among the allies will prove to be the primary result of his visit.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—To the great accumulation of proof that Franklin D. Roosevelt was crooked in little things as well as great, I report that he literally stole passages from a book and palmed them off as original composition in an article which, by his own precaution, was not to be published until he was dead. The article was a tribute to the old Cunard liner Mauretania. Under Roosevelt's by-line, it was printed in the June, 1950, issue of sea breezes, "The Ship Lovers' Digest," an English magazine, with the title "Queen With a Fighting Heart."

The excerpts in question were stolen from a book entitled "Mauretania — Landfalls and Departures," by Humphrey Robertson Jordan, published in London by Hodder, and Stoughton in June 1936. A brief foreword to Roosevelt's piece, in which he affects great knowledge of ships and seafaring, although he never sailed deep water in any other role than that of first class passenger, states that this effort was put together in August of 1936, at a time when Mr. Jordan's book was at hand for consultation and cribbing.

After the June issue of Sea Breezes had carried the Roosevelt piece with a proud little note celebrating this coup, the August issue of the same magazine carried a letter in the Vox Pop attributed to one Henry Maxwell, who said he thought Roosevelt "must, I think, have had by his hand, when dicating the article" the Jordan book referred to.

Mr. Maxwell then compared the wording of Roosevelt's story in one paragraph of unusually good descriptive writing with Jordan's earlier work.

Roosevelt's piece ran: "To no other ship belonged that trick of hers—that thrust and dip and drive into the seas and through them which would wreck the rails of the 'Monkey Island' with solid sea or playfully spatter salt water on the captain's boiled shirt as he took a turn on the bridge before going down to dinner."

Jordan's version of the same thing had been: "That thrust and dip and drive of hers into the seas and through them, that trick of hers which could wreck the rails of the Monkey Island with solid sea or playfully spatter salt water on a commander's boiled shirt, did not belong to any other ship."

Mr. Maxwell's letter closed with the restrained comment that this was not the only indication that the late president had "relied on Jordan's book for many particulars and descriptions."

Nor was it.

In Jordan's preface this line occurs: "For 22 years she remained the world's fastest liner."

Roosevelt put it thus: "For 21

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Shades of 1938, 1939, and 1940!

We're in for it and we might as well lift our heads out of the sand and become realistic.

The Ruminator has been criticized occasionally during the months since the Korean war commenced for being overly pessimistic.

It is obvious now that "contrary pessimism" has been more realistic than the false optimism many people have maintained.

That democracies have to move so slowly in the face of crises is one of the drawbacks that cost dearly. But when on top of this philosophical and political drawback you pile outright fumbling and tragic decisions you get into such a catastrophe as we now face.

We might as well realize now that the road ahead is going to be rougher than we imagine. It cannot be otherwise.

In order to cope with the Chinese and Russian situation we shall be compelled to organize a regimented economy—a garrison state. You can not fight totalitarianism with business-as-usual or conveniences-as-usual. Immediately upon the outbreak of the Korean war we should have girded ourselves for an all-out fight—for the worst. We had no right to "assume" that a mere "police action" was all that was needed. If, however, police action and air cover were all that United States' policy dictated then why in Heaven's name did we not bomb Korea from the air, thereby aiding the South Koreans as much as possible, and save the lives of thousands of American and other lives that have since been sacrificed?

Looking back it is clear that continuous bombing would have accomplished as much as the invasion has. Indeed, it might have accomplished far more, because Red China probably would not have entered the war. If the North Koreans had worked on down the peninsula they would not have done more damage (not as much, in fact) as it now appears the Red Chinese armies will do.

So what have we gained?

It would be more accurate to ask, how much have we lost?

There is no use now in looking back, except to put the experience and mistakes to constructive purpose in planning for the future.

In order to be realistic it must be recognized that a set-back such as we have suffered in Korea will inevitably mean a long, tortuous period while we attempt to build up strength to ward off the far greater danger of world-wide conflict.

So, in business and economics, let us acknowledge that regimentation on a war-like basis is absolutely essential if we are to get ready in time to avoid an international holocaust.

Every businessman and investor is going to have to watch his step to avoid making errors that will be costly. If we are to win through this crisis that confronts us all history of similar crises demonstrates that the financial load must be carried by everyone or complete disaster through inflation will result.

The Ruminator can see no reason why this generation that has made the grim mistakes should expect future generations to underwrite the errors. Just as far as humanly possible the load of rearmament must be placed on our shoulders and not held off to be placed on those of our grandchildren. Admittedly, we may not be able to pay for this war and defense program "as we go" but we can pay for a lot more of it than we did in World War II. Nothing could be more dangerous than to finance what lies ahead of us through government borrowing from the banks or from paper money "manufactured" by the Reserve Banks. At the time of Civil War "fiat currency" (the famous greenbacks that were turned out on the printing press) seemed essential. But, looking back let us remember that it was 1879 before those greenbacks got back to par—a value of 100 cents—and the nation was able to offer "hard money" to anyone who wished to exchange his greenbacks. (As it happened, few people did turn in their greenbacks, because they had regained confidence—but it took many years to return to sound money.")

We can win through whatever lies ahead if we have the courage to accept some hardships at home—which in plain language means whopping taxes and "going without."

People Move Back

New Delhi (AP) — Since the Nehru-Liaquat Ali Khan agreement on minorities was signed last April 1,313,686 Hindus have gone back to East Pakistan, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told parliament. During the same period, Nehru said, 547,492 Moslems returned to India from East Pakistan.

It would be more accurate to ask, how much have we lost?

There is no use now in looking back, except to put the experience and mistakes to constructive purpose in planning for the future.

In order to be realistic it must be recognized that a set-back such as we have suffered in Korea will inevitably mean a long, tortuous period while we attempt to build up strength to ward off the far greater danger of world-wide conflict.

So, in business and economics, let us acknowledge that regimentation on a war-like basis is absolutely essential if we are to get ready in time to avoid an international holocaust.

Every businessman and investor is going to have to watch his step to avoid making errors that will be costly. If we are to win through this crisis that confronts us all history of similar crises demonstrates that the financial load must be carried by everyone or complete disaster through inflation will result.

The Ruminator can see no reason why this generation that has made the grim mistakes should expect future generations to underwrite the errors. Just as far as humanly possible the load of rearmament must be placed on our shoulders and not held off to be placed on those of our grandchildren. Admittedly, we may not be able to pay for this war and defense program "as we go" but we can pay for a lot more of it than we did in World War II. Nothing could be more dangerous than to finance what lies ahead of us throught government borrowing from the banks or from paper money "manufactured" by the Reserve Banks. At the time of Civil War "fiat currency" (the famous greenbacks that were turned out on the printing press) seemed essential. But, looking back let us remember that it was 1879 before those greenbacks got back to par—a value of 100 cents—and the nation was able to offer "hard money" to anyone who wished to exchange his greenbacks. (As it happened, few people did turn in their greenbacks, because they had regained confidence—but it took many years to return to sound money.")

We can win through whatever lies ahead if we have the courage to accept some hardships at home—which in plain language means whopping taxes and "going without."

People Move Back

New Delhi (AP) — Since the Nehru-Liaquat Ali Khan agreement on minorities was signed last April 1,313,686 Hindus have gone back to East Pakistan, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told parliament. During the same period, Nehru said, 547,492 Moslems returned to India from East Pakistan.

Brought to Sudden End

The fashion of wearing cravats was brought to a sudden end by the French Revolution from 1789-1799. Wearing of a cravat was sufficient to make one be suspected of being an aristocrat.

Other officers of the organization include Craig Plough, first vice-president; Irwin J. Thomas, second vice-president; Mrs. Emmadele Hicks, secretary; and John Warren, treasurer.

Tentative plans for the unit's annual winter banquet were announced by Craig Plough, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Others serving are Joan Woinoski, Mrs. Hicks, Milton Wagenfohr and Mark Cornwell.

Following last night's business session, a Christmas party was enjoyed with members exchanging gifts.

Three Are Injured In 4 Car Mishaps

Three persons were injured in four city traffic mishaps yesterday.

Mrs. James O'Connor, 19 Johnston avenue, suffered a wrist injury in an accident near 153 Pearl street. She was taken in a W. N. Conner ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital where her condition was reported today as "fair."

The police report at 12:50 p. m. said Alfred J. Bruckert, 153 Pearl street, was backing his panel truck out of the driveway near his address when the woman was struck.

Carolyn Hearn, 50 New street, reported at 4:15 p. m., that she was driving her sedan east on Meadow at Ann street, when Robert Bradley, 7, of 34 Meadow street "ran into the right rear of her car." He was injured about the face and taken by the driver to Kingston Hospital for treatment, the report said.

Officers Harry Martin and Frank Sammons reported at 3:20 p. m. that a car owned and operated by Myron Goldman, R.D., Kingston, headed north on Smith avenue and one owned by George H. Hannibal, 5 Snyder avenue, and operated by Mae Hannibal, were in collision at Smith avenue and Garden street. A Gage street woman, whose name was not given, reported a slight head injury.

Occupants of two other vehicles in collision at Broadway and O'Neil street were uninjured. Officer Charles Hoehing reported at 10:35 p. m., that a truck owned and operated by Sam Rhiels, 217 Broom street, New York, was headed north on Broadway, and a sedan operated by Anthony Mongillo, of Glasco, was going south on Broadway when they collided.

Argues Against Release

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Dr. Theodore Weiss, resident psychiatrist at Bellevue Hospital, testified in the State Court of Claims yesterday that in his opinion the Central Islip Mental Hospital should not have released Joseph Schioppa, who killed his wife a month later. Schioppa, indicted on a first degree murder charge for the May 2, 1948, slaying in their home at 686 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, was subsequently committed to the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

In filling out an application for a factory job, a man puzzled for a long time over the question, "Person to notify in case of accident?" Finally he wrote: "Anybody in sight."

Wife (in back seat)—Don't drive so fast, George.

George—Why not?

Wife—That policeman on the motorcycle behind us can't getby.

"Ladies," the experts say that "either perfect figure or button hooks will be necessary to get into new Parisian fashions." But the girls will try.

Lady (to office boy)—Is Mr. Smith in?

Well Trained Office Boy—No, Madam, he's gone to lunch with his wife.

Lady—Oh, really? Well, when he comes in, just tell him his typist called.

A man asked the druggist for some talcum powder for his wife. "Mennen's" asked the druggist. "No, women's."

Anger, when not restrained, frequently becomes more hurtful to us than the injury that provokes it.

Customer—Waiter-hic-bring me a dish o' prunes.

Waiter—Stewed, sir?

Customer—Thash none o' your business.

Well, it is going to cost more to talk on the telephone, but there still will be people just as long-winded as ever.

He—What did the big firecracker say to the little firecracker?

She—What?

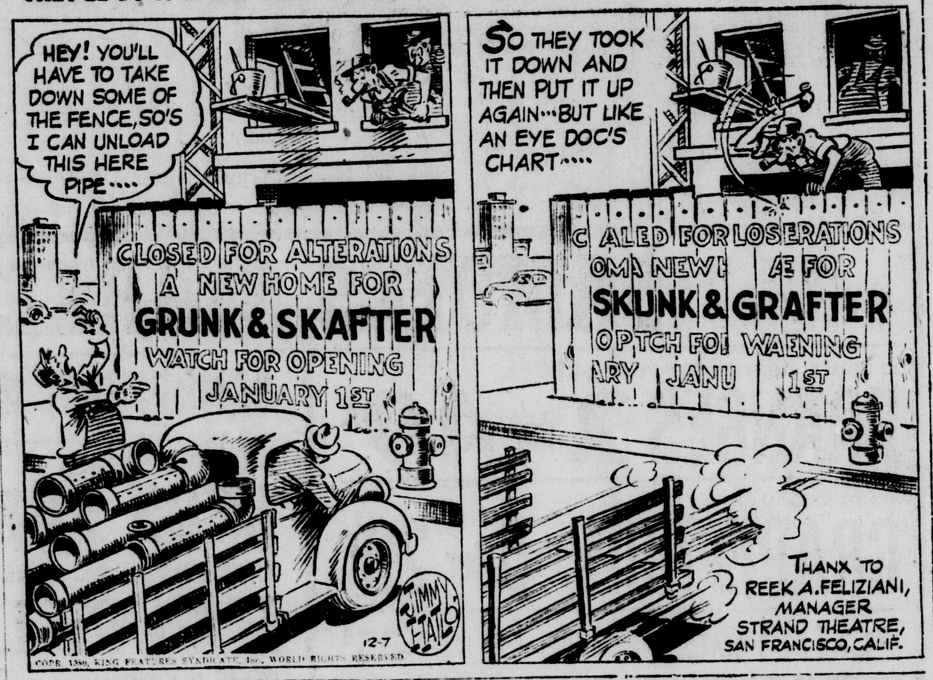
He—My pop's bigger than your pop.

Why is it that the fellow who's the life of the party on his night out is usually such a grouch at home?

To Appear in Edinburgh

Edinburgh, Scotland (AP) — The New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra will appear in Europe for the first time in 20 years when it plays at the 1951 Edinburgh Festival. It will be led by Bruno Walter and Dimitri Mitropoulos — seven performances under each conductor.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By Jimmy Hatlo



Stand By!

Be strong in the Lord,
And in His Sight
The foe he will smite,
With all His Might.

Our God was with David
When Goliath appeared
With a stone from the ground,
The giant's life disappeared.

Goliath's armies, they fled,
But David stood still
Gave thanks to God,
For His Help from the hills.

Brave Jonathan was,
His friend at all times
He never stepped back,
Or went with the tide.

He said to his friend,
"The Lord can save
As easily by few,
As thousands of men."

And so with MacArthur,
Who prayed with his men
To do the Lord's will
"Let us be His friend."

This time he stated,
What he thought would come true
"You'll be home for Christmas,
In the land of the Red, White and Blue."

God's ways are many,
And always right
Who knows, but what, the general's statement,
May come true over night.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

In filling out an application for a factory job, a man puzzled for a long time over the question, "Person to notify in case of accident?" Finally he wrote: "Anybody in sight."

Wife (in back seat)—Don't drive so fast, George.
George—Why not?
Wife—That policeman on the motorcycle behind us can't getby.

"Ladies," the experts say that "either perfect figure or button hooks will be necessary to get into new Parisian fashions." But the girls will try.

Lady (to office boy)—Is Mr. Smith in?
Well Trained Office Boy—No, Madam, he's gone to lunch with his wife.
Lady—Oh, really? Well, when he comes in, just tell him his typist called.

A man asked the druggist for some talcum powder for his wife. "Mennen's" asked the druggist. "No, women's."

Anger, when not restrained, frequently becomes more hurtful to us than the injury that provokes it.

Customer—Waiter-hic-bring me a dish o' prunes.
Waiter—Stewed, sir?
Customer—Thash none o' your business.

Well, it is going to cost more to talk on the telephone, but there still will be people just as long-winded as ever.

He—What did the big firecracker say to the little firecracker?
She—What?
He—My pop's bigger than your pop.

Why is it that the fellow who's the life of the party on his night out is usually such a grouch at home?

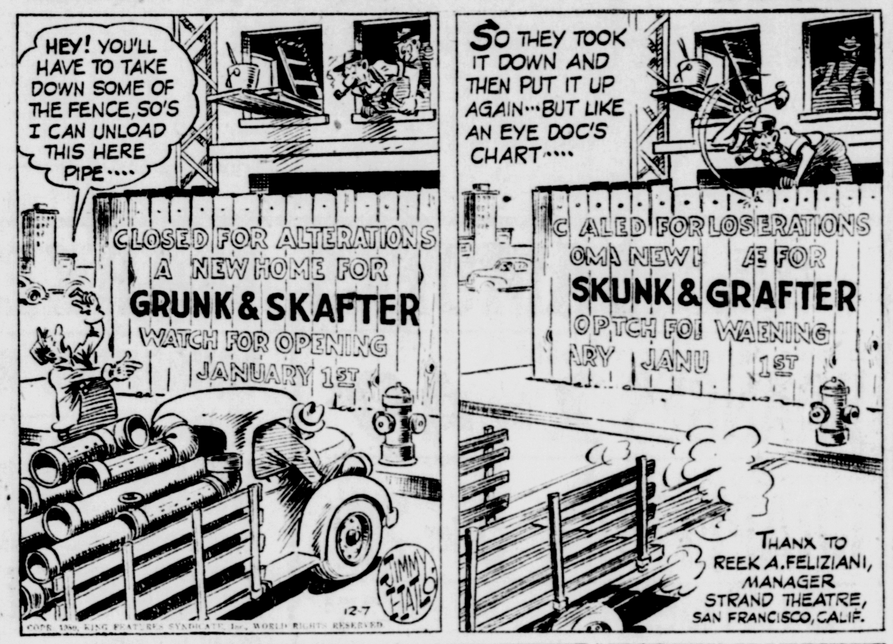
THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By Jimmy Hatlo



Stand By!

Be strong in the Lord,
And in His Sight
The foe he will smite,
With all His Might.

Our God was with David
When Goliath appeared
With a stone from the ground,
The giant's life disappeared.

Goliath's armies, they fled,
But David stood still
Gave thanks to God,
For His Help from the hills.

Brave Jonathan was
His friend at all times
He never stepped back,
Or went with the tide.

He said to his friend,
"The Lord can save
As easily by few,
As thousands of men."

And so with MacArthur,
Who prayed with his men
To do the Lord's will
"Let us be His friend."

This time he stated,
What he thought would come true
"You'll be home for Christmas,
In the land of the Red, White and Blue."

God's ways are many,
And always right
Who knows, but what, the general's statement,
May come true over night.

Push Into Koto

They pushed into Koto today after a bitter battle through heavy Chinese resistance south of the Changjin reservoir.

It took them 25 hours to batter their way eight miles from Hagaru.

The first elements of two marine and two infantry regiments made their way into Koto at 7:25 a. m. (5 p. m. EST Wednesday).

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Macbeth, the only correspondent in Koto, said eight hours later they "are still coming into Koto today."

A headquarters spokesman said "the pressure is heavy at Hagaru and the enemy is trying to capture as many of our men as they can."

The Americans still were faced with fighting their way out of Koto through heavy Communist concentrations to cover the 40 miles of winding mountain road southeast to Hamhung.

Deployed Along Road

Seven Chinese divisions were reported deployed along the road—the only escape route south from Koto. The spokesman said he may be able tomorrow to identify two other Chinese divisions fighting to hold the Americans in the trap.

The eight-mile trek into Koto was rugged enough. Elements of the Fifth and Seventh Marine Regiments and the 31st and 32nd Regiments of the Seventh Division fought through zero weather, a blinding snow storm and one Chinese roadblock after another.

The Communists threw mortar and small arms fire, "Molotov Cocktails"—gasoline filled bottles—and sticks of explosives at the Americans.

Col. Lewis Puller, commander of the marine first Regiment, said the Chinese have blown bridges and blocked the roads "but will make a fight out of it."

Infantrymen from the U. S. Third Division moved up from the Hamhung area to try to clear the road for the trapped Americans. They were forced to halt near Majon, 15 road miles south of Koto, and engage Chinese troops in heavy fighting.

A security blackout held up reports from the other northeast sectors.

He said factories and cultural centers displayed maps of Korea indicating progress of the war but there was "little if any discussion of Korea."

Solid blocks of apartments are being built in a big housing program in Moscow, Roberts said. He described stores as "packed to the doors with all sorts of consumer goods."

School, Fashions Firm Burglaries Are Probed

Local police today were investigating the theft of a safe from No. 3 School and a burglary at Kingsley Fashions Inc., 17 Cornell street.

Both had apparently occured during the night and in each entrance was made through a window. The garment factory reported between $300 and $500 in cash and several robes missing. Approximately $100 in lunch money was in the school safe and $85 of this was recovered.

Police were notified at 7:30 a. m., of the theft at No. 3 School. It was discovered by Edwin Shultz, the janitor.

Find Safe in Lot

Officers Joseph Fallon and Earl Schoonmaker, who were dispatched to the school, found the safe in a lot to the rear of St. Mary's Church off Chambers street. Its bottom had been pried open with a crowbar, which was later found not far from the school.

The $85 recovered, was in a separate compartment of the safe. The person or persons who entered the building went through a side window, police said.

A cash box with pay envelopes to be claimed later by employes of the dress shop, was taken in the burglary there. An exact estimate of the amount had not been made up until early this afternoon.

Entered Window

The company reported several robes also missing and the police said four of these were recovered. It was reported also that some of the pay envelopes which had been torn open were found in the Cornell and Downs street area. Entrance was made through a rear window and exit was by a factory door, police said.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krom were notified as soon as the theft was discovered at the school and later were told of the break-in at the dress shop.

Navy Changes Rules For Taking Family Men

It was announced this morning by Chief Paul F. Cahill of the local navy recruiting station that rules on enlistments for men with dependents have been somewhat relaxed by the navy.

The new regulation now permits men who have had no previous service, with one dependent to enlist. For example a man who is married and has no children is now elgible for enlistment whether he has prior service or not. The same holds true for men who are not married and have one dependent relative, they also are elgible for enlistment.

New regulations concerning prior service men with dependents have also been received. It was suggested by Chief Cahill that all prior service men who have questions as to the number of dependents they are allowed, should either contact the local navy recruiting station in the post office or call Poughkeepsie 4718.

Berlin, Dec. 7 (AP)—Moscow was reported today to be directing a new backdoor strategy to bring about a meeting of East and West German governments for unity discussions. Czech and Polish officials have tried particularly to see French leaders in the West to discuss the issue, informants here said.

School, Fashions Firm Burglaries Are Probed

Local police today were investigating the theft of a safe from No. 3 School and a burglary at Kingsley Fashions Inc., 17 Cornell street.

Both had apparently occured during the night and in each entrance was made through a window. The garment factory reported between $300 and $500 in cash and several robes missing. Approximately $100 in lunch money was in the school safe and $85 of this was recovered.

Police were notified at 7:30 a. m., of the theft at No. 3 School. It was discovered by Edwin Shultz, the janitor.

Find Safe in Lot

Officers Joseph Fallon and Earl Schoonmaker, who were dispatched to the school, found the safe in a lot to the rear of St. Mary's Church off Chambers street. Its bottom had been pried open with a crowbar, which was later found not far from the school.

The $85 recovered, was in a separate compartment of the safe. The person or persons who entered the building went through a side window, police said.

A cash box with pay envelopes to be claimed later by employes of the dress shop, was taken in the burglary there. An exact estimate of the amount had not been made up until early this afternoon.

Entered Window

The company reported several robes also missing and the police said four of these were recovered. It was reported also that some of the pay envelopes which had been torn open were found in the Cornell and Downs street area. Entrance was made through a rear window and exit was by a factory door, police said.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krom were notified as soon as the theft was discovered at the school and later were told of the break-in at the dress shop.

Navy Changes Rules For Taking Family Men

It was announced this morning by Chief Paul F. Cahill of the local navy recruiting station that rules on enlistments for men with dependents have been somewhat relaxed by the navy.

The new regulation now permits men who have had no previous service, with one dependent to enlist. For example a man who is married and has no children is now elgible for enlistment whether he has prior service or not. The same holds true for men who are not married and have one dependent relative, they also are elgible for enlistment.

New regulations concerning prior service men with dependents have also been received. It was suggested by Chief Cahill that all prior service men who have questions as to the number of dependents they are allowed, should either contact the local navy recruiting station in the post office or call Poughkeepsie 4718.

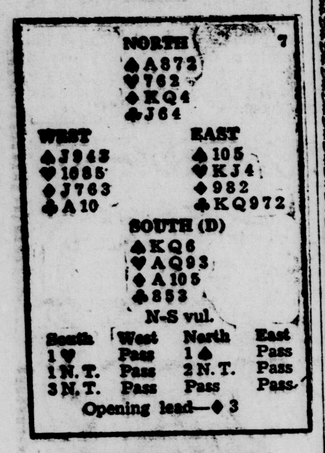
JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Contract Stolen In Broad Daylight



By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I am about to go out of my mind," complains a New York city correspondent. "My partner let himself be talked out of the proper defense even though I gave hi mthe vital clue to the actual situation.

"Nevertheless, I get no sympathy from any of my expert friends. They all pull a long face and say that it was very hard for my partner to do the right thing.

"West opened the three of diamonds, dummy won with the queen, and I (holding the East cards) played the deuce. Declarer looked at the dummy for a few seconds and then led the four of clubs from dummy.

"I looked at the four of clubs for perhaps half a second — just long enough to decide to play the nine of clubs. When my nine appeared, South played the three of clubs. And my dim-witted partner won with the ten of clubs. What's more, he insulted my judgment by leading back another diamond, although I had played the discouraging deuce at the first trick!

"Declarer won in dummy with the king of diamonds and finessed the queen of hearts. When that held, he led a low heart. I won and led a club, but the party was over. My partner's ace blocked the suit.

"By this time South had eight tricks in high cards and needed only a break in either spades or hearts to make his contract. Since the hearts broke 3-3, he was home.

"Tell me truthfully. Did my partner really have a difficult problem—or did he have a brainstorm?"

Them's fighting words, my anguished friend. I would say that West made a very bad play, but that's as far as I'll go.

To begin with, it should be clear that South does not have a concealed five-card club suit, considering the bidding. Therefore the nine of clubs cannot possibly be East's lowest club; it must be a signal.

From what sort of holding could East possibly play the nine of clubs? He couldn't possibly do so from four or more clubs to the king-nine or queen-nine. Besides, why would declarer attack such a suit and then fail to play high from his own hand?

The only possible conclusion is that East has a long club suit headed by king-queen-nine and that South has attempted a feeble hoax play. Unquestionably West should have won with the ace of clubs and returned the ten of clubs at once.

Incidentally, South probably would have made the contract if he had gone after it in more straightforward style. After winning the first diamond in dummy, he should lead a heart and finesse the nine. West wins with the ten —and must immediately shift to clubs to defeat the contract! The chances are he would not think of doing so.

With any other return, declarer has time to take another heart finesse, cash his top tricks and find out which of the two major suits is split 3-3. I must admit, however, that there isn't as much satisfaction in making a contract normally as there is in stealing it from under the opponents' noses!

Johannesburg, S. Africa, was a tin-roofed village in its 1890 gold-rush days.

"I am about to go out of my mind," complains a New York city correspondent. "My partner let himself be talked out of the proper defense even though I gave hi mthe vital clue to the actual situation.

"Nevertheless, I get no sympathy from any of my expert friends. They all pull a long face and say that it was very hard for my partner to do the right thing.

"West opened the three of diamonds, dummy won with the queen, and I (holding the East cards) played the deuce. Declarer looked at the dummy for a few seconds and then led the four of clubs from dummy.

"I looked at the four of clubs for perhaps half a second — just long enough to decide to play the nine of clubs. When my nine appeared, South played the three of clubs. And my dim-witted partner won with the ten of clubs. What's more, he insulted my judgment by leading back another diamond, although I had played the discouraging deuce at the first trick!

"Declarer won in dummy with the king of diamonds and finessed the queen of hearts. When that held, he led a low heart. I won and led a club, but the party was over. My partner's ace blocked the suit.

"By this time South had eight tricks in high cards and needed only a break in either spades or hearts to make his contract. Since the hearts broke 3-3, he was home.

"Tell me truthfully. Did my partner really have a difficult problem—or did he have a brainstorm?"

Them's fighting words, my anguished friend. I would say that West made a very bad play, but that's as far as I'll go.

To begin with, it should be clear that South does not have a concealed five-card club suit, considering the bidding. Therefore the nine of clubs cannot possibly be East's lowest club; it must be a signal.

From what sort of holding could East possibly play the nine of clubs? He couldn't possibly do so from four or more clubs to the king-nine or queen-nine. Besides, why would declarer attack such a suit and then fail to play high from his own hand?

The only possible conclusion is that East has a long club suit headed by king-queen-nine and that South has attempted a feeble hoax play. Unquestionably West should have won with the ace of clubs and returned the ten of clubs at once.

Incidentally, South probably would have made the contract if he had gone after it in more straightforward style. After winning the first diamond in dummy, he should lead a heart and finesse the nine. West wins with the ten —and must immediately shift to clubs to defeat the contract! The chances are he would not think of doing so.

With any other return, declarer has time to take another heart finesse, cash his top tricks and find out which of the two major suits is split 3-3. I must admit, however, that there isn't as much satisfaction in making a contract normally as there is in stealing it from under the opponents' noses!

Johannesburg, S. Africa, was a tin-roofed village in its 1890 gold-rush days.

Deaths Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

R. U. Patterson

Washington—Maj. Gen. Robert Urie Patterson, 73, retired former surgeon general of the army. He was born in Montreal, Canada.

Perle Wilkinson

New York—Mrs. Perle Wilkinson, 88, former actress known as Perle Dudley, one-time supervisor of music in Indianapolis and New York public schools, and once an administrator in women's prisons in New York and Farmingham, Mass. She was born in Greencastle, Ind.

Bill Dahlen

New York—Bill Dahlen, 79, an outstanding shortstop with the New York Giants, Boston Braves and Brooklyn of the National Baseball League before the First World War.

Sentence Sets Off Court Near-Riot

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Teen-agers staged a near-riot in a Brooklyn courtroom corridor yesterday after a young gang killer was sentenced to at least 15 years in prison.

Anthony Scarpati, 17, was sentenced from 10 to 20 years for first degree manslaughter in the death of 18-year-old James Fortunato, a rival gang member. Scarpato also was given five to 10 years on a weapon charge.

As Scarpati was taken from the Kings county courtroom, he was greeted in the corridor by his mother, Mary. Sobbing, the woman embraced her son and fainted.

News photographers started to take pictures of the unconscious woman. The teen-agers, both boys and girls went into action. They tried to attack the lensmen and reporters, who were protected by police and court attendants.

Arraigned for Contempt

Joseph Senatore, 20, alleged ringleader of the uproar, was arraigned for contempt, before Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz. The charge was dismissed after Senatore apologized to a photographer for threatening him.

Scarpati had pleaded guilty to the fatal shooting of Fortunato in a gang gun battle in Brooklyn's Prospect Park last May.

Senatore had been permitted by Judge Leibowitz to address the court in the Scarpati case recently. Senatore said the gang boys in Brooklyn wanted to better themselves but were denied the proper environment. He also charged mistreatment of teen-agers by police.

Court testimony brought out that Scarpati, who lived across the street from a playground, admitted he never used it.

Little Hope Seen

there is a firm decision against any voluntary withdrawal of forces in the face of Chinese Communist pressure. But if the U.N. troops cannot hold on at some point and if the Communists will not make a settlement an enforced withdrawal would be the only alternative.

Appears in Agreement

Attlee appeared to be in agreement with that policy when he said in a speech here yesterday that "in fair weather or foul, where the Stars and Stripes fly in Korea, the British flag will fly beside them."

In general, as Attlee also indicated in his speech, Britain and the U. S. have ruled out any "appeasement" of what the diplomats call "condoning of aggression." Specifically the U. S. Government is said to have ruled out any deal to buy peace in Korea by supporting—instead of opposing—Red China's bid for membership in the U.N., or by bartering Formosa or the interests of Indochina.

There were, meanwhile, these other developments bearing on the Korean situation and thus at least indirectly on the two-power talks:

1. In the Senate, the Republican Policy Committee met to consider a resolution by Senator Ives (R-NY) voicing a lack of confidence in Secretary of State Acheson and calling on the President to replace him.

Resolution Pushed

2. A group of 24 GOP senators headed by Senator Kem (R-Mo) pushed a resolution which would call on Mr. Truman to report fully on his talks with Attlee and to submit any agreements reached in the form of treaties which would require Senate approval.

3. The air force disclosed that 29 commercial airliners, dropped from the Pacific airlift in September, have been restored to service. Officials discounted they might be used for evacuation of troops.

4. The Commerce Department again tightened its controls on exports to Red China amid demand from some senators that the U. S. and Britain embargo such shipments entirely. The department moved to intercept some ships en route to China, Hong Kong and Macao.

French Ask . . .

home to the idea of a German army, French political leaders have until now opposed putting arms into the hands of any Germans before a unified European army is formed.

It is believed the darkening crisis in Korea has made the French more aware of the urgency of rearming Europe at once.

The switch in French attitude was seen as a victory for the United States, which wanted to get the Germans into a European army as soon as possible.

Plan is Spurned

Bon, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—West German officials turned a cold shoulder today to the new plan for including German troops in the North Atlantic forces, which was announced by the French last night.

An official government spokesman declined immediate comment on the grounds that the government has not been officially informed.

Windows Are Shattered

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (AP)—Crudely-made gasoline bombs shattered windows in Gimbel's downtown department store and a Gimbel warehouse today as continuing violence marked the 18-day-old strike of truck drivers against three big stores. A third unused bomb—made of a beer bottle filled with gasoline—was found on the steps of a church across the street from Gimbel's. The small fire started in the display window was quickly extinguished by firemen. Police details were double at all three stores and warehouses involved in the dispute between the A.F.L. General Teamsters and Gimbel's, Horne's, and Kaufmann's.

Universities Favor Service Training

Columbia, Mo., Dec. 7 (AP)—The Association of American Universities has unanimously adopted a resolution proposing universal military training and service for all 18-year-old youths.

The resolution said the international situation indicates a period of "high level tension for the next decade or more, during which the military strength of the United States may be a vital factor in the prevention of a global war."

The action was announced today by Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, University of Missouri president who also is president of the association.

The association pointed out that Defense Department estimates call for a standing armed force of 2,500,000 to 3,500,000 men and added:

"This requirement will demand that the services of all able-bodied men be made available as they become of military age."

The resolution proposed also that all inductees, after completing the required period of training, be transferred to reserve organizations "for a period of years."

Extension of the Selective Service Act, with certain amendments, for 10 years also was recommended. The association suggested amendments to the act would prohibit voluntary one-year enlistments and extend the period of service from 21 to 27 months, with a proviso that the President could raise the term three months or lower it.

The resolution was adopted at a meeting in New York city Monday. Dr. Middlebush said 23 of the 35 United States members of the association were present.

Reds Have Prisoners

Lake Success, Dec. 7 (AP)—A West German representative said today at least 62,792 German war prisoners, "are known to be still alive in Soviet captivity." The representative, Georg Federar, reported this "minimum figure" as a United Nations committee prepared to take up a joint U. S.-British-Australian demand for U.N. action to shed light on the fate of thousands of German and Japanese prisoners taken by the Russians. The demand, placed on the agenda of the General Assembly's Social and Humanitarian Committee over vigorous Soviet objections, is expected to be debated by the committee today or tomorrow.

Plan Is Spurned

Bon, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—West German officials turned a cold shoulder today to the new plan for including German troops in the North Atlantic forces, which was announced by the French last night.

An official government spokesman declined immediate comment on the grounds that the government has not been officially informed.

Windows Are Shattered

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (AP)—Crudely-made gasoline bombs shattered windows in Gimbel's downtown department store and a Gimbel warehouse today as continuing violence marked the 18-day-old strike of truck drivers against three big stores. A third unused bomb—made of a beer bottle filled with gasoline—was found on the steps of a church across the street from Gimbel's. The small fire started in the display window was quickly extinguished by firemen. Police details were double at all three stores and warehouses involved in the dispute between the A.F.L. General Teamsters and Gimbel's, Horne's, and Kaufmann's.

Universities Favor Service Training

Columbia, Mo., Dec. 7 (AP)—The Association of American Universities has unanimously adopted a resolution proposing universal military training and service for all 18-year-old youths.

The resolution said the international situation indicates a period of "high level tension for the next decade or more, during which the military strength of the United States may be a vital factor in the prevention of a global war."

The action was announced today by Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, University of Missouri president who also is president of the association.

The association pointed out that Defense Department estimates call for a standing armed force of 2,500,000 to 3,500,000 men and added:

"This requirement will demand that the services of all able-bodied men be made available as they become of military age."

The resolution proposed also that all inductees, after completing the required period of training, be transferred to reserve organizations "for a period of years."

Extension of the Selective Service Act, with certain amendments, for 10 years also was recommended. The association suggested amendments to the act would prohibit voluntary one-year enlistments and extend the period of service from 21 to 27 months, with a proviso that the President could raise the term three months or lower it.

The resolution was adopted at a meeting in New York city Monday. Dr. Middlebush said 23 of the 35 United States members of the association were present.

Reds Have Prisoners

Lake Success, Dec. 7 (AP)—A West German representative said today at least 62,792 German war prisoners, "are known to be still alive in Soviet captivity." The representative, Georg Federar, reported this "minimum figure" as a United Nations committee prepared to take up a joint U. S.-British-Australian demand for U.N. action to shed light on the fate of thousands of German and Japanese prisoners taken by the Russians. The demand, placed on the agenda of the General Assembly's Social and Humanitarian Committee over vigorous Soviet objections, is expected to be debated by the committee today or tomorrow.

As Pegler Sees It

years she remained the fastest liner he (man) had ever produced."

Jordan: "When she had long ceased to be the largest ship, when, after a very gallant struggle in old age she ceased to be the fastest liner, she remained during another five years of hard work, the world's most famous steamship."

Roosevelt: "When she had long ceased to be the largest ship and when, after a gallant struggle in her old age, she no longer was the fastest Atlantic liner for still another five years of hard work she remained the world's most famous steamship."

The trivial variations in Roosevelt's plagiarism are characteristic of this literary crime.

Continuing: Jordan: "Neither size nor speed, alone, could have given her fame; that rested on something more secure and more intangible—on her individuality."

Roosevelt: "Neither size nor speed alone could have given the Mauretania her fame. That rested on something more secure and intangible—on her personality—for the M. was a ship with a fighting heart."

Jordan: "She was only known on two of the seven seas. She never crossed the line. She never made a long voyage as long voyages are reckoned. Yet, wherever men go in ships her name is familiar as the greatest of her kind."

Roosevelt: "The seven seas knew the Mauretania although she never crossed the equator. She never made a long voyage as (long) voyages are reckoned. Yet, wherever men are, this August day of 1936, be they in Denver, Colorado, or the 'veldt of South Africa, the M., even in death, is familiar as the greatest of her kind."

Jordan: "She was an inanimate thing of steel, but her individuality was so near to personality as to be really living for many thousands of ordinary, sensitive, human beings."

Roosevet changed one word here. He substituted "yet" where Jordan had written "but."

These deadly parallels were discovered in an incomplete comparison of Roosevelt's text with Jordan's. There are other twirls in Roosevelt's counterfeit which strongly suggest that on detailed inspection the enormity of the fraud would be aggravated.

At several points, Roosevelt hedged with remarks that he was relying on notes provided by his secretary, Missy Le Hand, but these concerned capacity, speed, dimensions, performances and other purely mathematical data.

The foreword to the Roosevelt piece in Sea Breezes said: "It is not often that a magazine is privileged to publish an article written by the leader of a great nation—especially an article extolling the product of another nation. The following was written by Franklin Delano Roosevelt at Hyde Park, New York, in August 1936, when he was President of the United States. To his friend, Mr. Ralph E. Cropley, of New York, 'F.D.R.,' gave permission to release the article for publication in 1950 if he were dead by that time."

The by-line read "by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Another vox pop letter, immediately following the one in which Mr. Maxwell called the turn on the deified brain-picker, signed "Eileen L. Elliott," put the same accusation in this language: "It struck me forcibly that not a few of the passages were taken word for word from Humphrey Jordan's book, 'Mauretania.'"

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Proposes Readiness

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the marine corps, says the United States should have armed forces ready instead of relying on rapid build-up of our military might. Cates spoke last night before the American Ordnance Association. To assume leadership of the free world, he said, the U. S. must "have armed forces in being which permit us to make our will felt wherever our interest is threatened." He cited marine corps strength as an example of American unpreparedness. Last June, the corps had only 27,000 men in the entire fleet marine force, he reported, but there were 31,000 Leathernecks at Inchon, Korea, on Sept. 15.

Race on Rent Bill

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—House and Senate raced today to see which will be the first to pass an emergency extension of rent controls. The Senate has agreed to start voting at 2 p. m., E.S.T., on a bill to continue the federal control program for two months beyond its present expiration date of Dec. 31, 1950. A three-month extension bill is the top business before the House, meeting at noon. The President has requested a three-month extension. Because of the parliamentary situation, the Senate appeared likely to pass its bill first. It could then be sent to a Senate-House conference which would have to recommend a compromise.

Etna Still Active

Catania, Sicily, Dec. 7 (AP)—Mt. Etna's latest eruption showed no sign of abatement today as the huge volcano spilled wide streams of molten lava down its flanks and forced evacuation of more than 2,000 persons from the villages of Renazzo and Milo. A fleet of 120 trucks removed the villagers from their homes yesterday and early today.

Santa Will Arrive Sunday by Plane At Airport, 2:30

Santa Claus will visit Kingston Sunday, coming to the city by airplane. His visit is sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Committee through the courtesy of Scott's at 295 W-ll-street who will provide the plane and distribute candy canes and balloons to the kiddies.

Santa will arrive at the Kingston-Ulster Airport off Route 9W at the bypass on Sunday, December 10, at 2:30 o'clock sharp, weather permitting. On landing, Scott said, Santa will meet all his small admirers, distribute candy canes and balloons and then take off again for the North Pole to complete his long Christmas list. A public address system will carry Santa's message to all at the airport.

Club Is Burned

Fort Dix, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP)—Fort Dix's sprawling one-story Officers' Club burned to the ground early today despite the efforts of six fire companies. Capt. James R. Lewis, base public information officer, said no one was injured in the blaze believed to have started in the club kitchen.

Cornell Strike Ends

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—A strike by about 100 building service employes of Cornell University was over today and union officials called the agreement a "fair settlement." Cornell's acting president, Cornelius W. De Kiewiet, announced last night that the university had agreed to deal with the A.F.L. Building Service Maintenance Employes Union on wages, hours, working conditions and grievances. However, the union was not given "full recognition," as the term generally is understood, and no contract was signed, De Kiewiet said.

Goes to Appellate Division

Bay Shore, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Rep. W. Kingsland Macy (R-N.Y.) plans to go into an Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court tomorrow in his fight to invalidate the victory of his opponent at the Nov. 7 election. Ernest Greenwood, Democratic and Liberal Party nominee, has been declared the winner by 138 votes in the traditionally Republican First Congressional District. S. Martin Adelman, law chairman of the Suffolk County Republican Committee, said yesterday the case will be taken to the Appellate Division in Brooklyn tomorrow. Adelman said presiding Justice Gerald Nolan of the division granted Macy the right to appeal the case.

18 Families Are Routed

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Eighteen familes, clad in nightclothes, were routed into the street early today by a two-alarm fire that began at 532 West 182nd street and spread to adjoining dwellings. The fire was discovered on the second floor of the three-story tenement, and spread quickly to the building's top floor and from there to the top floor of two neighboring buildings at numbers 530 and 528. All occupants escaped by means of stairways and fire escapes. Only injury reported was a child suffering from shock. A preliminary investigation by the fire department indicated that the blaze might have originated in a trash barrel in front of the house at number 532 and spread up the tar-shingled front.

Price Trends Are Irregular This Week in Retail Foods

(By The Associated Press)

Price trends in retail foods were irregular this week. Pork items and broiling and frying chickens were lower in most places, along with several fruits and vegetables, while beef cuts and eggs turned higher.

Many foods were edging upward at the wholesale level and the mark-ups appeared likely to be reflected in stores in the next few weeks.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index made its sharpest jump this week since late August, rising 10 cents to $6.77—highest in more than two years. The index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Pork Cuts Ease

Several cuts of pork eased two to six cents a pound in competitive stores across the nation as supplies continued liberal. Small chickens were unchanged to about four cents a pound lower. The upward changes in beef items were restricted to a few cents a pound in most cases. But advances in top grade eggs ranged as high as eight cents a dozen with demand reported to be unusually good.

Heavy receipts of lettuce pushed prices lower in most markets. Also lower-priced in produce departments: Apples, carrots, pascal celery, eggplant, western grapes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and most citrus fruits.

Produce Is Damaged

Cold weather in some important winter crop areas of Florida and other states damaged a few vegetables like beans and caused price rises in far-distant markets. New cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, onions, peas and summer-type squash all were a little higher.

The first Texas beets and spinach of the season arrived in Atlantic seaboard markets this week, and the first Florida celery reached distant cities.

A spokesman for the National Canners Association told a packers' convention at Atlantic City there is little chance of a shortage of canned food for civilians, even with military buying heavy.

400,000,000 Cases

"Our industry is canning this year 400,000,000 cases of fruits and vegetables, and the army is taking only three or four per cent of it," said Carlos Campbell, executive secretary of the Association.

Joseph F. Hauck, extension marketing specialist at Rutgers University, predicted larger national crops of peaches, pears, grapes and strawberries for next year, but said surveys indicate apple and sour cherry production may be smaller. He added that fruit prices in general would hold about the same levels as this year even though overall output would probably be larger, because demand for fruits would be spurred by high consumer income and military requirements.

Tight Coffee Supply

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) told a national coffee association convention at Boca Raton, Fla., that all statistics indicate a tight supply and demand situation in the coffee industry for the immediate future.

Delegates from Brazil, the largest coffee-producing nation, said their nation's crop would be about the same size as last year, 14,000,000 bags. Trade sources reported that if this proved true, coffee prices likely would be even higher next year because overall demand is expected to increase as the defense program gets into high gear.

Plentiful, Thrifty Buys

The Agriculture Department headlined frying and broiling chickens and honey on this week's list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying.

Fried chicken once was pretty much of a summertime dish and tender young broilers were a delicacy available only during early summer, the department said. However, thanks to better breeding, better feeding and commercial production, consumers now can get all kinds of chicken at virtually any time of the year. And right now the young chickens are in good supply.

As for honey, this year's output is estimated to be three per cent more than last year—and stocks are the largest since records were begun in 1942.

It is now possible to contact 80 countries by telephone from almost any place in the U.S., the trans-oceanic telephone circuits on short waves making this practicable.

18 Families Are Routed

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Eighteen familes, clad in nightclothes, were routed into the street early today by a two-alarm fire that began at 532 West 182nd street and spread to adjoining dwellings. The fire was discovered on the second floor of the three-story tenement, and spread quickly to the building's top floor and from there to the top floor of two neighboring buildings at numbers 530 and 528. All occupants escaped by means of stairways and fire escapes. Only injury reported was a child suffering from shock. A preliminary investigation by the fire department indicated that the blaze might have originated in a trash barrel in front of the house at number 532 and spread up the tar-shingled front.

Price Trends Are Irregular This Week in Retail Foods

(By The Associated Press)

Price trends in retail foods were irregular this week. Pork items and broiling and frying chickens were lower in most places, along with several fruits and vegetables, while beef cuts and eggs turned higher.

Many foods were edging upward at the wholesale level and the mark-ups appeared likely to be reflected in stores in the next few weeks.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index made its sharpest jump this week since late August, rising 10 cents to $6.77—highest in more than two years. The index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Pork Cuts Ease

Several cuts of pork eased two to six cents a pound in competitive stores across the nation as supplies continued liberal. Small chickens were unchanged to about four cents a pound lower. The upward changes in beef items were restricted to a few cents a pound in most cases. But advances in top grade eggs ranged as high as eight cents a dozen with demand reported to be unusually good.

Heavy receipts of lettuce pushed prices lower in most markets. Also lower-priced in produce departments: Apples, carrots, pascal celery, eggplant, western grapes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and most citrus fruits.

Produce Is Damaged

Cold weather in some important winter crop areas of Florida and other states damaged a few vegetables like beans and caused price rises in far-distant markets. New cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, onions, peas and summer-type squash all were a little higher.

The first Texas beets and spinach of the season arrived in Atlantic seaboard markets this week, and the first Florida celery reached distant cities.

A spokesman for the National Canners Association told a packers' convention at Atlantic City there is little chance of a shortage of canned food for civilians, even with military buying heavy.

400,000,000 Cases

"Our industry is canning this year 400,000,000 cases of fruits and vegetables, and the army is taking only three or four per cent of it," said Carlos Campbell, executive secretary of the Association.

Joseph F. Hauck, extension marketing specialist at Rutgers University, predicted larger national crops of peaches, pears, grapes and strawberries for next year, but said surveys indicate apple and sour cherry production may be smaller. He added that fruit prices in general would hold about the same levels as this year even though overall output would probably be larger, because demand for fruits would be spurred by high consumer income and military requirements.

Tight Coffee Supply

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) told a national coffee association convention at Boca Raton, Fla., that all statistics indicate a tight supply and demand situation in the coffee industry for the immediate future.

Delegates from Brazil, the largest coffee-producing nation, said their nation's crop would be about the same size as last year, 14,000,000 bags. Trade sources reported that if this proved true, coffee prices likely would be even higher next year because overall demand is expected to increase as the defense program gets into high gear.

Plentiful, Thrifty Buys

The Agriculture Department headlined frying and broiling chickens and honey on this week's list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying.

Fried chicken once was pretty much of a summertime dish and tender young broilers were a delicacy available only during early summer, the department said. However, thanks to better breeding, better feeding and commercial production, consumers now can get all kinds of chicken at virtually any time of the year. And right now the young chickens are in good supply.

As for honey, this year's output is estimated to be three per cent more than last year—and stocks are the largest since records were begun in 1942.

It is now possible to contact 80 countries by telephone from almost any place in the U.S., the trans-oceanic telephone circuits on short waves making this practicable.

Hong Kong Trade Has Its Worries

Hong Kong, Dec. 7 (AP)—This British crown colony whistled bravely today but there was widespread concern that its recent high prosperity may become an economic graveyard.

The United States embargo on trade with Red China is being felt acutely here and in nearby Macao, Portuguese island close to the mainland.

Both the U. S. and Britain previously had banned war materials to Communist countries but they had not included Hong Kong on the list of ports. Britain still permits shipments of much materiel to China. The Hong Kong government imposed some restrictions itself, however.

Hong Kong and Macao depend mainly on commerce with China for their existence. Both are crowded with traders of all nationalities. Among them are many smugglers. Commerce controls are not regarded in either place as being very firm.

Hong Kong is a free port and has no large customs force to inspect the hundreds of cargoes that arrive monthly. This duty falls to the colony's Department of Commerce and Industry. But since the ban on strategic materials to China was imposed, the department has refused an average of five or six applications for export licenses daily.

The embargo list includes gasoline, tin, cotton and precision instruments. It does not include rubber.

When the Reds seized China's large ports most of the trade was diverted to Hong Kong. It caused an unprecedented boom. But business is receding now.

"We may soon be deep in the doldrums," a banker said.

Early Hindus, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans had puppets.

"The Children's Paradise"

43 NORTH FRONT ST. KINGSTON, N. Y.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Girl Scouts Plan Show for Kiddies

Woodstock, Dec. 6—Girl Scouts of Troop 74, Woodstock, will present a program of entertainment at the Woodstock Town Hall Saturday at 2:30 p. m., for the amusement of the younger children of the community.

They will enact their own version of "Hansel and Gretel" in which each actress has worked out of her lines under the spirited supervision of the troop as a whole.

Susan White portrays Hansel, Libby Lee is Gretel, Mary Lapo the cruel stepmother and Donna Riseley the reluctant but henpecked father. Lynne Wright makes a very sinister witch who properly terrified several younger brothers and sisters when the same play was presented at a Girl Scout Court of Awards last spring. The bird who guides the children safely home after contributing to their troubles by eating their guiding crumbs is to be played by Diane Mower.

The girls have also prepared a puppet show of "Rip Van Winkle" in which each member of the troop has a part as either the voice or motive power for a doll. Hannah Barth speaks for Rip while Diane Mower scolds him roundly as his wife. Doris Mellin is the voice of Rip's daughter-in-law, Gretchen, and Susan Hoover, her son, Rip III. Elva Shultis does the barking for Rip's dog, Wolf, and Barbara Hastie speaker for the Hermit of Watson's Hollow.

Variety Is Large At Craftsman Shop

Woodstock, Dec. 6—The variety of craft work on display and for sale at the Guild of Craftsmen's shop in Woodstock, has occasioned much comment. It is difficult to single out individual contributors to the shop, but some of the things not to be missed are the lamps and silver and copper jewelry from the talented hands of Betty and Richard Crane. Martha Everett, Cairo, consigns engaging angels made of aluminum foil and enamel on copper ashtrays and coasters. The amusing coasters have cocktail recipes in French painted under the glaze.

Hand woven scarfs and table mats by Besse Stowall, Woodstock, are heavenly in texture and coloring; gold thread is often woven with the wool and linen and all are washable. Jiesje Cramer, Woodstock, hand blocks linen tablecloths and luncheon sets in subtle colors that are usually hard to find. Pleated lampshades of charming imported papers that impart a cherry glow are flawlessly made by Kitty Boyd, Woodstock. Also for the house are the tables, magazine racks and hanging spice chests and cabinets made by Lester Winslow of Saugerties.

Visitors are urged not to miss seeing the stuffed animal toys made by Peggy June with much humor and imagination. There's a lion, a tiger and a polka dot daschund. A chipmunk with movable legs sits up, looking bright and intelligent. In this same lighthearted category, are the gay and fantastic birds, made by Emmy Seaton, of Woodstock, out of bits of brocade, satin, velvet, ostrich plumes, sequins plus lots of imagination.

Mrs. Esther Smith, Shokan, packages two dozen Charleston cookies in a handsome hand decorated tin which makes an attractive cache-pot when the cookies are gone. Mrs. Hubbard has completed many pairs of wool socks, gloves, hoods and stoles that knowing Guild shoppers come back to buy, year after year.. Particular treasurers are the unusual calf belts designed by Dick Chambers. They fasten with an ornament made of polished native stone, inset with copper. There also are wide felt belts studded with sequins made by Mrs. Remmert, Kingston. The Christmas cards, designed by Woodstock artists, supply the traditional greetings with a fresh approach. These are just a few of the items from the wide assortment to be found in the Guild centre where it is possible to shop in a leisurely, friendly atmosphere. The Guild is open every day, including Sundays until Dec. 24.

Girl Scouts Plan Show for Kiddies

Woodstock, Dec. 6—Girl Scouts of Troop 74, Woodstock, will present a program of entertainment at the Woodstock Town Hall Saturday at 2:30 p. m., for the amusement of the younger children of the community.

They will enact their own version of "Hansel and Gretel" in which each actress has worked out of her lines under the spirited supervision of the troop as a whole.

Susan White portrays Hansel, Libby Lee is Gretel, Mary Lapo the cruel stepmother and Donna Riseley the reluctant but henpecked father. Lynne Wright makes a very sinister witch who properly terrified several younger brothers and sisters when the same play was presented at a Girl Scout Court of Awards last spring. The bird who guides the children safely home after contributing to their troubles by eating their guiding crumbs is to be played by Diane Mower.

The girls have also prepared a puppet show of "Rip Van Winkle" in which each member of the troop has a part as either the voice or motive power for a doll. Hannah Barth speaks for Rip while Diane Mower scolds him roundly as his wife. Doris Mellin is the voice of Rip's daughter-in-law, Gretchen, and Susan Hoover, her son, Rip III. Elva Shultis does the barking for Rip's dog, Wolf, and Barbara Hastie speaker for the Hermit of Watson's Hollow.

PLUM PUDDING TOPS DINNER

PLUM PUDDING, dark and rich like fruit cake, stands high and lordly on the groaning Christmas board.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In the rolling foothills of the Berkshires, there's an inn where Christmas dinner before the log fire ends in a flaming plum pudding, dark and rich.

Dark and rich like fruit cake—that's how Rosamond Chapin makes it. She and her husband have turned the 18th century New Boston Inn into a haven for hungry travelers.

"Now some people prefer other ways of treating the Christmas pudding. But we drench it with rum, set the rum afire and bring it in glorious with flame and pungent odors," she reports. "Then there is our sauce — a foamy, wonderful business made with eggs valiantly spiked with light rum and brandy."

For other plum pudding tastes, the hospitable Chapins have another recipe. It's a little lighter and is served with a hard sauce milder in disposition.

Plum Pudding
(14 to 16 servings)

Two cups sifted enriched flour, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves, 2/3 cup unsulphured molasses, 2 eggs, beaten, ¼ cup shortening, melted, ¼ cup milk, 1 cup chopped nuts, 2 cups mixed diced candied fruit, 2 cups raisins or currants.

Sift together first six ingredients. Add molasses, eggs, shortening and milk; mix thoroughly. Stir in nuts and fruit. Pour mixture into two greased, 1-quart molds. Cover with tight-fitting lid or metal foil. Steam 2½ hours in individual molds (custard cups or gelatin molds). Serve hot with hard sauce, foamy sauce or whipped cream.

Molasses Hard Sauce
(Yield—1 cup)

One-third cup butter or fortified margarine, 2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 tablespoon unsulphured molasses, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind or 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter until fluffy. Add confectioners' sugar alternately with milk and molasses. Add orange rind or flavoring.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Tomato juice, scrambled eggs, corn muffins, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Clam chowder, crackers, sardine sandwiches, lettuce and tomato sandwiches, baked apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Vegetable soup, baked spaghetti and cheese, crusty French bread, butter or fortified margarine, large bowl of mixed green salad, French dressing, canned peaches, thin chocolate nut cookies, coffee, milk.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

For those who may visit New York city during the Christmas holidays there is an exhibition of early American toys, December 7 on through April 30 at the New York Historical Society, at 170 Central Park West (at 76th street). The museum is open daily, except Mondays, free to the public from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sundays from 1 until 5 p. m. Three centuries of toys are shown as collected by Mrs. Katherine Prentis Murphy of Westport, Conn., representing American and European toy makers. There are horse drawn fire engines, mechanical toys, such as the sand toy, an 1850 version depicting Jenny Lind dancing in front of a packed house. There are also the double-jointed puppets, jumping jacks, squeak toys, wooden merry-go-round, clockwork jigging toys, Noah's Ark, tin and wooden soldiers of many wars. Other sections devoted to children's books, games, coloring books, jack straws, picture blocks, etc.

I never tire hearing about the Ulster County Gazette, original of which was printed right here in Kingston, N. Y. by Samuel Freer and Son, on January 4, 1800, describing the funeral of George Washington. Recently received a note from Miss Orpha Satterlee, an 85-year-old resident of 90 Henry street. It seems Mrs. Irene Altwater of Henry street moved to Azusa, Calif., last summer, and a few days ago Miss Satterlee received a note from her former neighbor telling about a whole set of type being found in Azusa, from which the Canyon City News, of California reprinted once again our "Ulster County Gazette." How this complete type was found in someone's attic out there is so far a mystery, so I wrote to the editor of that paper, and asked for a copy of the reprint which was made October 26, 1950, also for any details as to how the type was found. I saw one of these reprints and it is very well done, but not from such old type as Max Oppenheimer's copy for instance. The older ones of course were made on the soft (rag content) paper, later copies are on brittle paper made from wood pulp.

Received a letter from Paul North Rice, Chief of Reference Department of the New York Public Library, Fifth avenue and 42nd street as I tried to obtain a booklet by R. W. G. Vail, called "Ulster County Gazette and Its Illegitimate Offsprings" which was printed by them on April of 1930 and sold for about 30 cents. Our own public library has one which includes pictures of the headings of the various reprints. But it seems this booklet is out of print for some time.

Mr. Rice further writes: "The Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800 has been reprinted many times, and of the thousands of copies which have turned up, only two have been proven to be originals—i.e. actually printed on January 4, 1800. These are located in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., and in the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass." He also gives some clues how to identify the original copy, which I have given before in this column. I feel sure, somewhere in someone's attic or barn there must be another original hid away, as it was printed here.

Perhaps for the coming 300th Anniversary, which will also make the Gazette over 150 years old, local publishers would reprint it once again, but in booklet form, with copies of at least some of the headlines of the reprints, as now in possession of the various libraries in Kingston, New York and Albany. Also include all the information gathered through the years on this nationally famous and interesting paper, and of course cover the life of Samuel Freer the publisher, who I understand died broke.

Salvagers have recovered $20,000,00 from Spanish galleons sunk in Vigo Bay, Spain, in 1702.

Their 13th Is Born

Columbus, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—The stork overtook a stalled family auto here last night, bringing the 13th child to Mrs. Mary Adams, 32. A seven-pound boy arrived when the motor of the Adams' car stalled at a street intersection while en route to University Hospital. A fire department emergency squad administered medical aid. Then the mother, father, Linzie Adams, and the new baby turned around and went home.

Nationalize Transport

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—The central government has decided to nationalize road transport throughout the country. Provincial governments have suggested that income from such operations be spent on improvement and construction of roads.

Perhaps for the coming 300th Anniversary, which will also make the Gazette over 150 years old, local publishers would reprint it once again, but in booklet form, with copies of at least some of the headlines of the reprints, as now in possession of the various libraries in Kingston, New York and Albany. Also include all the information gathered through the years on this nationally famous and interesting paper, and of course cover the life of Samuel Freer the publisher, who I understand died broke.

Their 13th Is Born

Columbus, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—The stork overtook a stalled family auto here last night, bringing the 13th child to Mrs. Mary Adams, 32. A seven-pound boy arrived when the motor of the Adams' car stalled at a street intersection while en route to University Hospital. A fire department emergency squad administered medical aid. Then the mother, father, Linzie Adams, and the new baby turned around and went home.

Christmas Cheer Sends Out Plea For Boy's Tricycle

The principal concern of the Christmas Cheer committee today was to locate a small tricycle for a three year old polio victim.

Somewhere in this city, Mrs. Sam N. Mann, publicity chairman, explained, there is a little boy, small for his age, and emaciated. There are more children in his family than can possibly be supported on the father's meagre income.

Last year the youngster was stricken with the most dreaded of all childhood diseases, poliomyelitis. The disease left him with spindly legs, and shrunken muscles.

Doctors examined the boy. If his legs were to recover, it was decided, they must be exercised with a tricycle. But a tricycle for a three year old boy in a needy family is a luxury the parents cannot possibly afford.

Realizing that there must be many children in the city who have outgrown their three wheelers, the committee has sent out a plea for a tricycle. Those interested in contributing are asked to call 3062.

The story of the small boy's tricycle was coupled with a request for additional donations to the Christmas Cheer committee, to help finance the new clothes and toys they will provide for 900 boys and girls this holiday season. Donations should be directed to Mrs. George Dewey Logan, 68 Garden street.

Mrs. Alfred Harder, chairman of Approved Schools, then showed the gifts which have been purchased for the Tamassee girl, Agnes Ruth McIntyre. Gifts included a long sleeved white sweater, a blue blouse, plastic raincoat, and rubbers. Money will also be sent for a pair of shoes. Those who wish to contribute, it was announced, should contact Mrs. Harder.

Benedictine Holds Auxiliary Meeting And Christmas Tea

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital met in the Nurse's Home yesterday afternoon for their annual meeting and Christmas tea. The meeting was highlighted by the story of the auxiliary's founding, as told by Sister Berenice, and a program of music played by Miss Helen Sheldon, harpist. The group also heard reports from Mrs. Robert B. Canavan, secretary, and Mrs. J. Edward Dolan, treasurer.

Sister Berenice carried the group back to the November days of 1901 when Sister Aloysia, with three other nuns, first came to Kingston to open Our Lady of Victory Sanitarium, located on West Chestnut street.

"Immediately after the Sisters were located in their new home," she continued, "Sister Aloysia gathered about her a number of the most prominent women in the social life of Kingston, and organized what we now know as the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital."

Early Auxiliary Events

Telling of the auxiliary's first days, Sister Berenice mentioned the cornerstone laying in 1901, the dedication of the chapel in 1904, and the first graduation class of 1907.

"Through the years the activities of the past have been continued and infused into the present life of the auxiliary," she remarked. Sister Berenice also expressed the hospital's gratitude to "the Senior and Junior Auxiliary for their continued interest and loyalty."

Reminding the group that the Benedictine Hospital would celebrate its Golden Jubilee in 1951, she then spoke of the new hospital addition which is being built.

"At last, after many years of waiting for more adequate facilities for the care of our patients," she told the group, "the management of the Benedictine Hospital decided that the hospital could not remain static . . . So we are going forward with the erection of our new addition," she concluded, "and when it is completed, we will find ourselves heavily in debt. But, we are firmly convinced that our friends in Kingston and Ulster county will see us through."

Officers' Reports

During her report to the group the secretary, Mrs. Canavan, thanked the officers who had served during the past year, as well as all those who in any way aided the auxiliary. Touching briefly on the events of the past year, Mrs. Canavan mentioned the Junior Auxiliary's tea dance, and the overwhelmingly successful Easter Monday Ball which realized $3,500. Meanwhile funds received from the auxiliary dance at the Governor Clinton Hotel in October, she explained, would be put toward furnishing a room in the new hospital wing.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. Edward Dolan, revealed that as of December 6, the group's total receipts had totaled $603.48, with disbursements of $347.80 leaving $225.68 as the balance on hand.

New Officers

New officers introduced at the meeting for the coming year were Mrs. Allen A. Baker, president; Mrs. George F. Einterz, first vice president; Mrs. Charles E. Davis, second vice president; Mrs. J. Schuyler Schonger, third vice president; Mrs. J. Edwin Phelan, fourth vice president; Mrs. Vincent Amatrano, fifth vice president; Mrs. J. Edward Dolan, treasurer; Mrs. Robert B. Canavan, secretary; and Miss Miriam Halloran, recording secretary.

Mrs. John A. Olivet and Mrs. William J. Cranston were co-chairmen for the tea, while Mrs. Charles O'Reilly and Mrs. Bartholomew J. Dutto were hostesses. The chairmen were assisted by Mrs. Maurice Silk, Mrs. Robert Moseley, Mrs. William P. Bush and Mrs. Anthony Mauceri.

Young Opera Stars Scheduled to Open New Artist Series

New Paltz, Dec. 7—Two young singers, Helen Clayton and Howard Jarratt, who have met with enthusiastic response throughout the mid-west this fall, will open the New Paltz Artist Series December 11 and 12. Miss Clayton, Mr. Jarratt, and the accompanist, Moreland Kortkamp, will each present a group of solos. Meanwhile all three will combine their talents to offer two well-known duets from "La Boheme," and "The Merry Widow." Both scenes will be done in full costume against a setting of authentic props.

Miss Clayton, who is known for her versatility in concert, oratorio, and operatic work, is a graduate of Tulane University, and has studied at the Juilliard School under Karin Branzell. She recently sang with the Buffalo Philharmonic, and Wheeling Symphony, as well as appearing in stage productions in Radio City Music Hall.

Mr. Jarratt began his singing career as tenor solist with the St. Olaf Lutheran Choir under the direction of F. Melius Christiansen. Later he served as head of the voice department at Ohio Wesleyan University. His solo appearances include the Ford Symphony of the Air, and a concert tour through the middle west and south.

The same concert will be held both nights at 8:30 in the State Teachers College auditorium. Season tickets for the five concert series are still available, and reservations for tickets to any single program may be made after the first concert.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Eleven teen-agers are on trial today, charged with plotting sabotage and the overthrow of Yugoslavia's Communist government. Before their arrest, the prosecution asserted, they had managed to break street lights, set grass fires, tear down government propaganda posters and damage public telephones. Ranislav Kanuric, who will be 20 on Dec. 30, was named leader of the group. He was charged with plotting to "fight against the existing Yugoslav social order and replace it with the kind of government which exists in the United States." The youngest of the defendants is 17. The couple were married at Broadheads Bridge at the home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Silkworth, by the Rev. Mr. Cool, pastor of the Tongore Methodist Church. Ladies' Night Held by Rotary Kingston Rotary Club Ladies' Night held at Broglio's Wednesday evening was an outstanding success. There was a record attendance of members, their wives and guests.

The main feature of the evening was the distribution of the "Rotary Press" of Kingston, New York. The publication, which was founded December 6 and abandoned December 7, 1950, was designed to fill the need of better acquainting the members with one another in matters heretofore undisclosed. The revelations were the subject of much comment.

During the evening Arthur Laidlaw led the group in singing. Sam Scudder presided at the piano.

President Byrne welcomed the gathering and the invocation was given by the Rev. Dean Dykstra, vice president.

Following the serving of dinner, there was a brief business meeting. Dancing concluded the evening's program.

Princeton Play Opens

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP)—"Too Hot for Toddy," 59th annual production of the Princeton Triangle Club, opens in McCarter Theatre here today for a three-day stand. From here the show will go on an extensive tour including New York city and White Plains, N. Y. The plot of this year's show has been kept secret by the undergraduate musical comedy organization, but the rumor is that it will be a take-off on such things as television, canasta, detectives, songwriters and soft drinks.

SHAKING HANDS

Nearly all rules of etiquette are elastic and none more so than those applying to the question in today's letter: "I'm confused about present-day handshaking between women. People don't seem to shake hands the way they used to, but I'm never sure when it might be considered impolite not to offer my hand."

In everyday life about the only time a woman must shake hands is as hostess when greeting her arriving guests. This is true even if she saw one of them earlier that day! Old friends are also inclined to shake hands if they haven't seen each other for some time. In her own office a woman would rise and shake hands with a visitor. Beyond these occasions women shake hands or not as they feel inclined. Obviously no lady would refuse a proffered hand.

Ending Telephone Conversation

Dear Mrs. Post: Does it matter who ends a telephone conversation? Is it supposed to be impolite for the person called to hang up first?

Answer: When the conversation has run out it usually ends naturally. If there can be a rule, it would be for the one who called to hang up first.

Two Distinct Parties

Dear Mrs. Post: Could it be questioned if I gave two separate showers for the same bride as long as I did not invite the same guests to both? I'd invite all together but my house is not large enough.

Answer: If the persons invited belong to two different groups, it would be quite all right. But it would be very hard to separate members of the same circle—unless you divide the alphabet: The A's to M's and the N's to Z's.

First Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: Is the young boy's family supposed to provide the transportation when he takes a young girl to their first dance? They are too young to drive cars themselves. Is it possible for the girl's family to drive them if his family has no car?

Answer: Boy's family should if they can. Otherwise hers would be proper.

Is it good taste to use a printed card for acknowledging a personal kindness? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," will help you. To obtain a copy, sent 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. P. O. Box 99, Station G. New York 19, N. Y.

Schulers, Robins Cop Opening Victories in Y Winter League

McCardle, F. Linnartz High With 11 Apiece

Schuler's Inn and the Robins registered opening night victories in the "B" division of the 1950-51 Y Basketball League Wednesday night on the Broadway boards.

Schulers, showing very little, still managed to turn in an eight point victory over the Accord Chevies by 36 to 28.

The Robins rolled over Hurley by 50 to 24.

No report was made on the scheduled game between the Esopus Firemen and the Yellow Jackets.

McCardle paced Schulers to their win with 11 points. The winners jumped off to a quick 13-7 edge in the first period but had their margin sliced to 21-19 at halftime.

A last period spurt for nine points decided the game for Schulers.

Wustrau, Buddenbaum and Lawrence also tossed in six points for the Chevies.

Two big periods—the first with 14 points and the third with 19 points — featured the opening night triumph for the Robins.

F. Linnartz and Madajeski sparked the winners with 11 and 10 points respectively.

McCullum threw in seven for Hurley.

Solidarity Retired

Inglewood, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—Solidarity, one of racing's 20 greatest money winners, has been retired to stud. His earnings total $357,435. The five-year-old son of Alibhai-Jerrybuilt will be at John Hertz's Amarillo ranch, Canoga Park, Calif., next spring. "I fully expect this horse to earn as much in the stud as he did on the race track," Hertz said yesterday. Solidarity suffered an injury last winter at Santa Anita and never fully recovered.

Will Manage Triplets

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—Bill Skiff is leaving scouting to manage the Binghamton, N. Y., club of the Class A Eastern League. Skiff succeeds George Selkirk, recently anouced as manager of Kansas City. Skiff is a former New York Yankee scout.

Gloede Big Blue Menace

Big Tom Gloede, one of the finest all-round athletes developed at Poughkeepsie High School in recent years, leads Sam Kalloch's Blues against K.H.S. in the DUSO League basketball opener, Friday night at the municipal auditorium.

Gloede set a modern P.H.S. scoring record last year when he scored 234 points in 18 games for a 13-point average. The previous high of 193 was set by Eddie Moran in the 1945-46 season.

Teamed with Gloede will be four veterans—Leroy "Eggie" Johnson, Jim Lewis, Roger Lewis and Nelson Johnson.

Poughkeepsie, co-favorite with Liberty High for the DUSO crown, won 14 and lost 4 last season, losing twice to St. Patrick's Academy of Newburgh, Kingston and Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

Giants Complete Transfer of Jersey City Club Franchise to Ottawa for '51 Season

The expected transfer of the Jersey City Giants franchise of the International League to Ottawa, the Canadian capital, was announced as completed during yesterday's session of the winter league meetings in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The New York Giants, operators of the Jersey City club, will continue to operate the club in Ottawa, for at least a season, Carl Hubbell, farm director, said.

A report from the south said that Tom Gorman, owner of the original Ottawa franchise in the Border League, which was switched to Cornwall, Ont., early this week, has been given the option to buy the club after 1951.

The Jersey City club wound up with a poor 75,000 attendance last year, compared to 200,000 in 1949.

Removal of the Jersey Giants to Ottawa marks the second such switch in two years. The New York Yankees pulled up stakes last year when they sold their Newark franchise which is now being operated by the Chicago Cubs in Springfield, Mass.

Few Deals Expected

Few deals are expected to be completed during the St. Petersburg sessions, according to latest word from the south.

According to one source, however, it is rumored that the Cardinals have offered Stan Musial to the Dodges in exchange for Gil Hodges and Pee Wee Reese.

Other developments yesterday included the naming of Ernie White, former Cardinal and Braves hurler, as manager of the Charleston, W. Va., club in the Class A. Central League.

San Diego and San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League completed a swap with San Diego sending Jack Graham, former Giant, and pitcher Bob Savage to San Francisco for Jack Tobin, an outfielder-infielder, and Don White, outfielder.

Skeeter Webb, ex-big league player, signed a contract to manage Colorado Springs in the Western League, a Class A loop.

A's Peddle Ortiz

The sale of Roberto Ortiz, Cuban outfielder, from the Philadelphia Athletics to the Birmingham Barons, was announced at St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday.

Rank as Darkhorses

Miami, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—John Barnum and Jack Shields ranked the darkhorse favorites today as 16 teams competed in the second round of the $10,000 Miami International four-ball golf tournament. Barnum, young Grand Rapids, Mich., professional, and Shields, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., yesterday upset highly favored Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burke, Jr., Houston, Tex., 5 and 4, in one of the most remarkable best-ball rounds ever played on the Miami Country Club course. They meet Bill Nary and Joe Kirkwood, Jr., today. The Nary-Kirkwood team beat Otey Crisman, Selma, Ala., and Harold Williams, Tuscaloosa, Ala. Kirkwood twice evened the match with 40-foot birdie putts when he and his partner were trailing. His six foot birdie putt on the 18th decided the match.

Flanagan Registers Upset Over Saddler

Detroit, Dec. 7 (AP)—Del Flanagan of St. Paul, Minn., was hot on the trail of Lightweight Champion Ike Williams today after scoring an upset victory over featherweight king Sandy Saddler in a non-title scrap here last night.

The 22-year-old Minnesota youngster was hopeful of getting a shot at Williams' crown in January. The International Boxing Club indicated it would do its best to make the match.

Flanagan, whose fistic reputation had been confined previously to his home town area, won national recognition with his carefully planned triumph over Saddler.

It was the 50th fight without a defeat for Flanagan, whose four-year pro fighting career now includes 48 wins and two draws.

The victory, achieved before a small turnout of 5,186 fans marked Saddler's first setback in 25 fights. It was a tough one for the champ to take.

Both Flanagan and Saddler complained that the other fighter had used "dirty tactics."

Ringsiders agreed it was a bout in which little attention was paid to the Marquis of Queensbury rules. Low punches, hitting in the clinches and on the breaks, heeling and butting—these were but a few of the evils committed as the battle waged.

Leafs Buy Ostrowski

The Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League have purchased John Ostrowski, outfielder, from the Chicago White Sox for an unannounced sum. Ostrowski, a right handed batter, hit .232 in 77 games last year while playing for the White Sox and the Washington Senators.

Loehlein Is Captain

Cadet Harold J. Loehlein, of Kimball, Minn., has been elected captain of the 1951 Army football team. The ace defensive end is the third straight wingman to be elected captain of the Black Knights of the Hudson. Lt. John Trent, recently killed in action in Korea, held the honor in 1949 and Dan Foldberg led the Cadets this season.

Schulers, Robins Cop Opening Victories in Y Winter League

McCardle, F. Linnartz High With 11 Apiece

Schuler's Inn and the Robins registered opening night victories in the "B" division of the 1950-51 Y Basketball League Wednesday night on the Broadway boards.

Schulers, showing very little, still managed to turn in an eight point victory over the Accord Chevies by 36 to 28.

The Robins rolled over Hurley by 50 to 24.

No report was made on the scheduled game between the Esopus Firemen and the Yellow Jackets.

McCardle paced Schulers to their win with 11 points. The winners jumped off to a quick 13-7 edge in the first period but had their margin sliced to 21-19 at halftime.

A last period spurt for nine points decided the game for Schulers.

Wustrau, Buddenbaum and Lawrence also tossed in six points for the Chevies.

Two big periods—the first with 14 points and the third with 19 points — featured the opening night triumph for the Robins.

F. Linnartz and Madajeski sparked the winners with 11 and 10 points respectively.

McCullum threw in seven for Hurley.

Fox Hunt in Stadium

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The great fox hunt at Yankee Stadium is over. One blast from a shotgun yesterday ended the mysterious career of the pesky little critter that for 53 days had been the despair of custodians of the huge sports arena. There was no baying of hounds and no gaily clad hunters mounted on splendid horses were in on the kill. Instead, the end of Reynard came in the dimly-lit and eerie atmosphere of a dusty concourse under section 26 in left field.

A full-fledged rodeo for juvenile performers only is held at Santa Rosa, New Mexico, each June.

The mountain laurel is the state flower of Connecticut.

Don Weeks, something of a whiz on the softball diamonds during the summer due to his pitching prowess, threw plenty of strikes on the Y lanes Wednesday night to pace the Federation American League with two new loop records.

Weeks, opening with a flat 200, bounced back with a hefty 246 single and added 190 to finish with a sizzling 636 triple.

Both the 246 and 636 counts established new marks for the loop.

Holding down the runnerup slot was H. Schussler who fired 202—559.

Also of note were H. Pine with 204—544; C. Hyde 209—530; Art Crist 517; Burt Burr 505.

Although pinfall tapered off somewhat after last week's crushing show by the Amocos, three keglers still went over the 600 mark in Wednesday night's action in the Central Rec Major at the Railroad avenue drives.

Ernie Bartroff led the pack with a string of 243-166-214 for 623.

Also in the 600 division were Frank "Tarz" Spada with 219-210—610; and Ed Murphy with 219—600.

The "Queen" was back in her familiar driver's seat in the Gold Division of the Colonial Women's League Wednesday night.

The "Queen," Rose Schatzel to non-bowling addicts, led the field with a 561 series on games of 200-170-191.

Eleven pins off the pace was Marie Kelekian who pounded the maples for 200-550.

Others of note were Charlotte Lapine with 548; Carrie Mohr 206-546; Marge Jansen 542; B. Port 208-533; Evelyn Gross 205-531; Mary Bonacci 206-530; Tess Moss 515; Rita LaRocca 504; and Mary Wyant 501.

Rowe's Shoes established two new league records last night with a 931 team single and 2611 team triple.

Anna Manfro missed the coveted "500" circle by five pins as she fired 495 to pace the Silver Division of the loop. Her scores were 183-153-159.

Other leaders were Mildred Burns with 474; Helen Broskie 465; Mary Sharot 461; Sally Kuehn 459; Jo Booth 458; H. McDougall 449; M. D. Coniglio 448.

Gerard Kearney's new league triple of 603 topped the pinfall in the C.Y.O. session at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night.

Kearney fired games of 201-178-224 for the new record.

N. Bruck rolled 231-587; Vince Carpino 233-568; Joe Mahar 534; D. Clausi 211-530.

Sees No Curtailment

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The billion-dollar horse racing industry was told today there are "no known plans to date" to curtail the sport in event of war. Doubtless remembering the complete shutdown of the sport from late in 1944 to May, 1945, Donald P. Ross, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations (TRA) yesterday told members in his annual report: "TRA is endeavoring to insure that it is not singled out from other sports and forms of entertainment as a target for some useless curtailment which contributes nothing to the defense effort."

Don Weeks, something of a whiz on the softball diamonds during the summer due to his pitching prowess, threw plenty of strikes on the Y lanes Wednesday night to pace the Federation American League with two new loop records.

Weeks, opening with a flat 200, bounced back with a hefty 246 single and added 190 to finish with a sizzling 636 triple.

Sees No Curtailment

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The billion-dollar horse racing industry was told today there are "no known plans to date" to curtail the sport in event of war. Doubtless remembering the complete shutdown of the sport from late in 1944 to May, 1945, Donald P. Ross, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations (TRA) yesterday told members in his annual report: "TRA is endeavoring to insure that it is not singled out from other sports and forms of entertainment as a target for some useless curtailment which contributes nothing to the defense effort."

BOND RESOLUTION
DATED DECEMBER 4, 1950

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $205,000 SERIAL BONDS OF THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, TO FINANCE THE TRANSITION PERIOD TO A COUNTY CALENDAR FISCAL YEAR.

WHEREAS, the County of Ulster, New York, has heretofore been on a fiscal year beginning November 1 and under the provisions of the County Law, as amended, is now required beginning January 1, 1951, to use a calendar fiscal year; and

WHEREAS, Section 381 of the County Law, as amended, provides that a county may finance in whole or in part the payment of obligations and expenses falling due during the period beginning with the end of its last noncalendar fiscal year (namely October 31, 1950) to January 1, 1951, by the issuance of serial bonds pursuant to the Local Finance Law; and

WHEREAS, the budget officer of the County of Ulster, has prepared an estimate for such period indicating the total estimated expenditures, including debt service less revenues anticipated to be received during such period, of $205,000; and

WHEREAS, this Board has determined it advisable to finance such amount, which does not include any tax anticipation notes, by the issuance of bonds; and

WHEREAS, no obligations of said County, either bonds, notes, or any other kind, are now outstanding for such purpose; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, New York, as follows:

Section 1. For the purpose of financing such transition period from October 31, 1950 to January 1, 1951, in accordance with the provisions of Section 381 of the County Law, as amended, and the Local Finance Law, there is hereby appropriated the sum of $205,000.

Section 2. The plan of financing such object or purpose consists of the issuance of serial bonds, hereby authorized. To pay such object or purpose, there are hereby authorized to be issued $205,000 serial bonds of said County, each of which is to be designated substantially COUNTY BUDGET (SERIAL) BOND, 1950, dated December 1, 1950, in the denomination of $1,000 each, numbered from 1 to 205, both inclusive, and maturing in numerical order in the amount of $50,000 on June 1 in each of the years 1952 to 1954, both inclusive and $55,000 on June 1, 1955. Such bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Both principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at The State of New York National Bank in Kingston, New York, which by contract is the paying agent of the issuer.

Section 3. All other matters except as provided herein, relating to such bonds, shall be determined by the County Treasurer. Such bonds shall contain substantially the recital of validity clause provided for in Section 52.00 of the Local Finance Law and shall otherwise be in such form and contain such recitals, in addition to those required by Section 51.00 of the Local Finance Law as the County Treasurer shall determine.

Section 4. Such bonds shall be signed in the name of the County of Ulster, New York, by the Chairman of its Board of Supervisors and by its County Treasurer, and sealed with its corporate seal, attested by its County Clerk, and the interest coupons shall bear the facsimile signature of the County Treasurer.

Section 5. The faith and credit of the County of Ulster, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds becoming due and payable in such year. There shall annually be raised by tax upon all the taxable property within said County a sum sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same become due and payable.

Section 6. It is hereby determined that subdivision 38 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to such object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is five years, computed from December 1, 1950, there being no bond anticipation notes issued or to be issued prior to such date.

Section 7. No down payment is required in connection with the issuance of said bonds by Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 8. The powers and duties of advertising such bonds for sale, conducting the sale and awarding the bonds, are hereby delegated to the County Treasurer who shall advertise such bonds for sale, conduct the sale and award the bonds in such manner as he shall deem best for the interest of said County, provided, however, that in the exercise of these delegated powers, he shall comply fully with the provisions of the Local Finance Law and any order or rule of the State Comptroller applicable to the sale of municipal bonds. The receipt of the County Treasurer shall be a full acquittance to the purchaser of such bonds who shall not be obliged to see to the application of the purchase money.

Section 9. The validity of such obligations may be contested only if:

1) Such bonds were authorized for an object or purpose for which the County of Ulster, New York, is not authorized to expend money, or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such bonds are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 10. This resolution, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full in the Kingston Daily Freeman and the Ulster County News and Kingston Leader, the official newspapers of such County, together with a notice of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors in substantially the form provided in Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Tenants Testify Yaras Knew About Improvements

Three tenants in the North Pearl street building owned by Coplin Yaras, Albany attorney who is now on trial here under charges of perjury, first degree, testified they had made substantial improvements to the property. They testified Yaras had been in their places and inspected the properties prior to the date when he filed an affidavit in connection with an application for assessment reduction in 1949.

Yaras is charged with having sworn falsely on the application by stating there had been no improvements or alterations made.

Two of the tenants swore there was a clause in their leases which required them to make improvements of a substantial nature to the premises.

Samuel Menchel, furrier at 96 North Pearl street, testified he had spent some $15,000 on a new front, heating plant, lighting and other improvements and that his lease required him to spend $1,500 in improvements in a year from the time he took over the premises.

Peter J. Zounes, retaurant proprietor at 102 North Pearl street, operator of the Modern Sweet Shop, said he had spent over $22,000 on improvements to the building and for furnishings. This included the cost of erecting a 35 by 25 foot addition to the building at the rear, one story in height.

Sol Sheinfeld, jeweler at 100 North Pearl street, said he had spent $3,500 and his lease required he spend $4,000 in improvements during the first two years of occupancy.

Visited During Work

All of the tenants testified Yaras had been in the building some time during the work period and had seen the places after improvements had been completed. Zounes said Yaras had sent a surveyor to the place to measure out land for erection of the building addition.

Richard W. Kinnaw, Albany commissioner of assessment and taxation, was on the stand most of Wednesday, he being removed from the stand late in the afternoon to allow the tenants to testify and return to their businesses.

Kinnaw testified from assessment books that Yaras had bought the property in 1941 for $45,000 that it was assessed at that time for $284,000, that applications had been made for reduction of the assessment and that the Supreme Court had directed a reduction to $85,000. Again next year the assessment roll showed the property had been placed back on the roll at $284,000 and again the court lowered the assessment. This proceeding was followed each year. Kinnaw said a Supreme Court order lowering an assessment was "good for one year." Kinnaw said he knew there was but $49.50 in stamps on the deed, but said he considered the transfer to Yaras as a "distress sale" which did not truly represent the value of the property. He said he inspected the property and placed his own valuation on the premises after inquiring around the neighborhood as to the property.

$28,000 Improvements

The indictment charges Yaras with having committed perjury when he swore to a statement in his protest for a reduction in assessment in 1949, that there had been no improvements while the indictment charges improvements of over $28,000 had been made to the premises.

A question as to the validity of the indictment was brought up during the session Wednesday when Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, presiding justice, inquired of Commissioner Kinnaw as to who constituted the board of review of tax protests. Kinnaw said it was a three-man board consisting of Kinnaw, Building Commissioner Philip J. Gallagher and City Treasurer Frank J. O'Brien. Justice Elsworth asked whether the law required the tax protests be reviewed by the board. Kinnaw said that was correct. The indictment charges that the application was submitted by Yaras to Tax Commissioner Kinnaw and that the information contained in the protest forms was necessary in determining the assessment valuation.

The court then remarked that if the law calls for the filing of these forms for the purpose of review by the board, the prosecution should refer to the indictment to determine the competency of proof.

Haver for the prosecution objected to the statement by the court and Justice Elsworth said the indictment must specify facts upon which the charge is based. He said he was making the inquiry of Kinnaw, only to determine whether certain evidence is competent.

The case was resumed today.

We are compelled to point out, however, that unless this change in administration personnel is made, our efforts to cooperate must prove futile and national disunity and lack of confidence are likely to increase."

No Prediction

What the policy committee would do was an open question. Ives, a member of the group, would make no prediction. Chairman Taft of Ohio said the question is whether Senate Republicans should take a position on Acheson in the name of the party. He is understood to favor a broader resolution covering both Acheson and foreign policy.

Should the Ives resolution, or a substitute, be approved by the 11-man policy committee, it then would go for action to the Senate Republican conference, composed of all 43 G.O.P. senators.

BOND RESOLUTION
DATED DECEMBER 4, 1950

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $205,000 SERIAL BONDS OF THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, TO FINANCE THE TRANSITION PERIOD TO A COUNTY CALENDAR FISCAL YEAR.

WHEREAS, the County of Ulster, New York, has heretofore been on a fiscal year beginning November 1 and under the provisions of the County Law, as amended, is now required beginning January 1, 1951, to use a calendar fiscal year; and

WHEREAS, Section 381 of the County Law, as amended, provides that a county may finance in whole or in part the payment of obligations and expenses falling due during the period beginning with the end of its last non-calendar fiscal year (namely October 31, 1950) to January 1, 1951, by the issuance of serial bonds pursuant to the Local Finance Law; and

WHEREAS, the budget officer of the County of Ulster, has prepared an estimate for such period indicating the total estimated expenditures, including debt service less revenues anticipated to be received during such period, of $205,000; and

WHEREAS, this Board has determined it advisable to finance such amount, which does not include any tax anticipation notes, by the issuance of bonds; and

WHEREAS, no obligations of said County, either bonds, notes, or any other kind, are now outstanding for such purpose; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, New York, as follows:

Section 1. For the purpose of financing such transition period from October 31, 1950 to January 1, 1951, in accordance with the provisions of Section 381 of the County Law, as amended, and the Local Finance Law, there is hereby appropriated the sum of $205,000.

Section 2. The plan of financing such object or purpose consists of the issuance of serial bonds, hereby authorized. To pay such object or purpose, there are hereby authorized to be issued $205,000 serial bonds of said County, each of which is to be designated substantially COUNTY BUDGET (SERIAL) BOND, 1950, dated December 1, 1950, in the denomination of $1,000 each, numbered from 1 to 205, both inclusive, and maturing in numerical order in the amount of $50,000 on June 1 in each of the years 1952 to 1954, both inclusive and $55,000 on June 1, 1955. Such bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Both principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at The State of New York National Bank in Kingston, New York, which by contract is the paying agent of the issuer.

Section 3. All other matters except as provided herein, relating to such bonds, shall be determined by the County Treasurer. Such bonds shall contain substantially the recital of validity clause provided for in Section 52.00 of the Local Finance Law and shall otherwise be in such form and contain such recitals, in addition to those required by Section 51.00 of the Local Finance Law as the County Treasurer shall determine.

Section 4. Such bonds shall be signed in the name of the County of Ulster, New York, by the Chairman of its Board of Supervisors and by its County Treasurer, and sealed with its corporate seal, attested by its County Clerk, and the interest coupons shall bear the facsimile signature of the County Treasurer.

Section 5. The faith and credit of the County of Ulster, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds becoming due and payable in such year. There shall annually be raised by tax upon all the taxable property within said County a sum sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same become due and payable.

Section 6. It is hereby determined that subdivision 38 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to such object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is five years, computed from December 1, 1950, there being no bond anticipation notes issued or to be issued prior to such date.

Section 7. No down payment is required in connection with the issuance of said bonds by Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 8. The powers and duties of advertising such bonds for sale, conducting the sale and awarding the bonds, are hereby delegated to the County Treasurer who shall advertise such bonds for sale, conduct the sale and award the bonds in such manner as he shall deem best for the interest of said County, provided, however, that in the exercise of these delegated powers, he shall comply fully with the provisions of the Local Finance Law and any order or rule of the State Comptroller applicable to the sale of municipal bonds. The receipt of the County Treasurer shall be a full acquittance to the purchaser of such bonds who shall not be obliged to see to the application of the purchase money.

Section 9. The validity of such obligations may be contested only if:

1) Such bonds were authorized for an object or purpose for which the County of Ulster, New York, is not authorized to expend money, or
2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such bonds are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 10. This resolution, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full in the Kingston Daily Freeman and the Ulster County News and Kingston Leader, the official newspapers of such County, together with a notice of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors in substantially the form provided in Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Tenants Testify Yaras Knew About Improvements

Three tenants in the North Pearl street building owned by Coplin Yaras, Albany attorney who is now on trial here under charges of perjury, first degree, testified they had made substantial improvements to the property. They testified Yaras had been in their places and inspected the properties prior to the date when he filed an affidavit in connection with an application for assessment reduction in 1949.

Yaras is charged with having sworn falsely on the application by stating there had been no improvements or alterations made.

Two of the tenants swore there was a clause in their leases which required them to make improvements of a substantial nature to the premises.

Samuel Menchel, furrier at 96 North Pearl street, testified he had spent some $15,000 on a new front, heating plant, lighting and other improvements and that his lease required him to spend $1,500 in improvements in a year from the time he took over the premises.

Peter J. Zounes, retaurant proprietor at 102 North Pearl street, operator of the Modern Sweet Shop, said he had spent over $22,000 on improvements to the building and for furnishings. This included the cost of erecting a 35 by 25 foot addition to the building at the rear, one story in height.

Sol Sheinfeld, jeweler at 100 North Pearl street, said he had spent $3,500 and his lease required he spend $4,000 in improvements during the first two years of occupancy.

Visited During Work

All of the tenants testified Yaras had been in the building some time during the work period and had seen the places after improvements had been completed. Zounes said Yaras had sent a surveyor to the place to measure out land for erection of the building addition.

Richard W. Kinnaw, Albany commissioner of assessment and taxation, was on the stand most of Wednesday, he being removed from the stand late in the afternoon to allow the tenants to testify and return to their businesses.

Kinnaw testified from assessment books that Yaras had bought the property in 1941 for $45,000 that it was assessed at that time for $284,000, that applications had been made for reduction of the assessment and that the Supreme Court had directed a reduction to $85,000. Again next year the assessment roll showed the property had been placed back on the roll at $284,000 and again the court lowered the assessment. This proceeding was followed each year. Kinnaw said a Supreme Court order lowering an assessment was "good for one year." Kinnaw said he knew there was but $49.50 in stamps on the deed, but said he considered the transfer to Yaras as a "distress sale" which did not truly represent the value of the property. He said he inspected the property and placed his own valuation on the premises after inquiring around the neighborhood as to the property.

$28,000 Improvements

The indictment charges Yaras with having committed perjury when he swore to a statement in his protest for a reduction in assessment in 1949, that there had been no improvements while the indictment charges improvements of over $28,000 had been made to the premises.

A question as to the validity of the indictment was brought up during the session Wednesday when Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, presiding justice, inquired of Commissioner Kinnaw as to who constituted the board of review of tax protests. Kinnaw said it was a three-man board consisting of Kinnaw, Building Commissioner Philip J. Gallagher and City Treasurer Frank J. O'Brien. Justice Elsworth asked whether the law required the tax protests be reviewed by the board. Kinnaw said that was correct. The indictment charges that the application was submitted by Yaras to Tax Commissioner Kinnaw and that the information contained in the protest forms was necessary in determining the assessment valuation.

The court then remarked that if the law calls for the filing of these forms for the purpose of review by the board, the prosecution should refer to the indictment to determine the competency of proof.

Haver for the prosecution objected to the statement by the court and Justice Elsworth said the indictment must specify facts upon which the charge is based. He said he was making the inquiry of Kinnaw, only to determine whether certain evidence is competent.

The case was resumed today.

No Prediction

What the policy committee would do was an open question. Ives, a member of the group, would make no prediction. Chairman Taft of Ohio said the question is whether Senate Republicans should take a position on Acheson in the name of the party. He is understood to favor a broader resolution covering both Acheson and foreign policy.

Should the Ives resolution, or a substitute, be approved by the 11-man policy committee, it then would go for action to the Senate Republican conference, composed of all 43 G.O.P. senators.

Navy Anxious for Low Score Men to Return

It was announced this morning by Chief Paul Cahill of the local navy recruiting station that the qualifying mark on the written test has been lowered. Chief Cahill said approximately 100 men in the area who previously applied and were turned down because of a low score will be affected by this new regulation.

Cahill suggested that all men who have applied and were rejected because of a low mark, should contact the local recruiting station in the post office building or call Poughkeepsie 4718 for further details.

39 Polio Cases

Albany, Dec. 7—The State Health Department today reported a total of 39 new cases of poliomyelitis in the upstate area for the week ending December 2. This compares with a total of 62 new cases reported for the preceding week. These additional cases bring the year's total to 2873, the department reported.
